500 m.p.h. Wing

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Further details of what has become known as the "500-mile-an-hour wing" for airplanes is disclosed in the new report of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics here.
Research scientists at the Langley Field, Va., laboratory have discovered "a new principle of wing design in which the transition from smooth (laminar) flow to turbulent air flow over a wing was so delayed as to reduce... basic air resistance by approximately two-thirds."
"So far the application (of this achievement) is limited to small airplanes, but there are indications of its ultimate applicability to larger airplanes through continued research."

Unofficial sources placed the toll from the tremors over a wide section of the country at nearly 50,000. Quakes have been felt daily since the first disastrous one on December 27 in the Lirizian region of Anatolia.

NO UNLOADING OF FISH AT BOSTON

BOSTON (AP)—Fish handlers at the Boston fish piers this afternoon still continued to refuse to unload 655,000 pounds of fish from 11 vessels, despite the pleas of their union agent to try for a day a modified unloading system ordered by Boston's health department.

The fish "lumpers" contended the order, barring use of trip-pronged forks on the pier itself but modified to permit their use in the holds, slowed their work and prohibited them from earning a fair day's pay. They argued that if the system remained in effect, they should receive $1 an hour instead of being paid on the present graduated scale based on the amount of fish unloaded.

The original order prohibited use of pitchforks in the holds or on the pier, to prevent unnecessary puncturing of the fish.

HONGKONG (AP)—The Chinese flag today replaced the Japanese rising sun emblem in areas adjoining British leased territory opposite Hongkong following Japan's withdrawal from the region.

Reoccupation of the territory brought Chinese and British troops into contact for the first time since the Japanese pushed to the Hongkong frontier.

Tai Ping Refloated

The frail little craft, which carried Captain John Anderson, his wife and four others across the Pacific from Shanghai in 113 days, has been refloated. She sank in 120 feet of water in Ocean Falls harbor last month.

VICTORIANS PICK SUMMER FLOWERS

Summer flowers continue to bloom in the gardens of Victoria and even this morning's frost was not heavy enough to kill them.

Hostesses these days are centering tables with bouquets from their own gardens. Yesterday Mrs. H. E. Keith, 432 Durban Street, picked from her garden two big double nasturtiums, leaving lots of buds, two rambler roses, a white stock, leaving two more; two marigolds and a big bunch of violets. She noted also that dandelions and daisies were in full bloom.

In Sydney Child, 16 Beach Drive, picked a bouquet of summer flowers in his garden yesterday, and in the garden of Capt. J. H. Cattroll, 499 St. Charles Street, a begonia—in full bloom, plants—was in full bloom.

Finns Destroy Another Division Of Invading Reds

By LYNN HEINZERLING
HELSINGFORS (AP)—Finnish forces destroyed the 44th Russian division, killing thousands and taking more than 1,000 prisoners, 43 tanks and 102 guns near Suomussalmi, a special army communique reported today.

It was in the northern part of Suomussalmi region, at the narrow "waistline" of central Finland, that the Finns, a week ago, reported wiping out the invaders' 163rd Division.

Heavy fighting has been reported in the Suomussalmi sector for days, but today's communique was the first mention made of Russia's 44th Division.

(Neutral military experts have estimated there are from 15,000 to 17,000 men in a Russian division.)

The communique said: "The main object of fighting in the south part of the Suomussalmi sector in the direction of Raate during the last few days has been the defeat of the 44th enemy division. This object has been achieved. The enemy forces in the main were destroyed."

"The war booty was large, including 102 different guns, 43 tanks, 10 armored cars, one airplane, 20 tractors, 278 different cars, among them 16 anti-aircraft cars with four anti-aircraft guns each, 75 automatic rifles, a number of other arms, 1,170 horses, 47 field kitchens, etc."

"Clearing up operations and the collection of spoils continue. On other fronts, except for the customary skirmishes and artillery exchanges, it was a fairly quiet day. Our patrols have been active and destroyed during the course of the day numerous enemy patrols."

Snow Blankets Over Most of U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—Most of the United States lay under a cover of snow today as the severest weather of the season reached the Atlantic coast.

Light to heavy snows have fallen since Saturday in at least 28 states. It was still snowing in New England, where temperatures ranged from 7 below zero at Bangor, Me., to around 16 above at New Haven, Conn.

The greatest amount of snow reported today was 24 inches at Clinton, Mo. The blanket at Fort Smith, Ark., was 18 inches deep. It was still snowing in some sections of Missouri.

Three to 15 inches of snow fell in Maryland, a record for the winter. Washington, D.C., had snow more than five inches deep. Ice disrupted Monongahela River transportation and caused a Pennsylvania coal mine to shut down, throwing 300 men out of work. There were light snows reported in New York and New Jersey.

Most of Kentucky was still snow-covered.

The coldest weather since 1936 penetrated to the Gulf in southeastern Texas.

At Fayetteville, in northwestern Arkansas, the thermometer read 2 above zero, the lowest in four years.

It was snowing in Kansas, where five inches of snow fell Saturday, and a new cover of snow in Iowa ranged up to seven inches. Wisconsin and Illinois had more than two inches of snow yesterday.

Deaths attributable directly and indirectly to the weather over the week-end totaled 53.

NO COLD SNAP

There is no immediate prospect of a cold snap in Victoria, although it looked that way last night, with a fresh breeze blowing from the north.

Observers at Gonzales Meteorological Observatory this morning said there would be frost tonight, but that tomorrow the wind would shift and the weather would become cloudy and unsettled, with showers and possibly light snow flurries in the higher altitude up-land. But there was no prospect of snow in Victoria.

Overnight the temperature in the standard screen at Gonzales fell to 35 degrees—three degrees above freezing. On the ground at Gonzales it was 31. In low-lying areas, however, it was several degrees colder, but only sufficient to put a thin layer of ice on puddles and shallow ponds.

Warns of Great German Offensive

"We are in no way dismayed," said the Marquess of Lothian, British ambassador to the United States, as he told a gathering that Britain expected a savage and desperate offensive by Germany next spring. Here the ambassador is seen, on the left, chatting with Count de Saint-Quentin, French ambassador to the United States and Sol Bloom, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, at the Capitol in Washington as Congress opened its session.

Fight to Save Skinner's Life

Medical authorities at the Port Alice hospital today are making every effort to save the life of Captain George Skinner, rugged Vancouver fisherman, who was under their care after three weeks' suffering from exposure and hunger on the bleak island coastline where he was left when his fishparker foundered early in December.

Radio advices received by B.C. Police headquarters here from Corporal J. Howe said the doctor attending Capt. Skinner had hopes for his recovery but felt he would be better off to stay at Port Alice for a few days rather than risk removal to Vancouver.

It had been suggested a plane should transport him to the mainland.

Captain Skinner was removed to Port Alice yesterday aboard the fishparker Great Northern I, a vessel owned by the Francis Millard Company, for which Skinner worked.

Continuous storms and heavy seas had prevented vessels from reaching the point before yesterday. Green Point is at the mouth of Quatsino Sound, near the northern end of Vancouver Island.

Two other passengers were aboard Skinner's boat, the Great Northern No. 5, when she went down. Engineer Ted Barnard was drowned, but Skinner's son, Hugh, reached shore with his father.

Several days after the sinking, Hugh set out for help, walking along the rocky coast in his bare feet. Four days before Christmas an airplane sighted Hugh hobbling along the shore.

A launch picked him up the next day and an airplane took him to a Vancouver hospital, where two of his lacerated toes were amputated.

Capt. Skinner received his first food and assistance four days ago when a search party led by Corporal J. Howe of the British Columbia Police reached him after an overland hike from Port Alice, at the head of Quatsino Sound.

They were forced to wait for a boat to move him, and an airplane dropped them food and medical supplies yesterday.

CAR-OWNERS SEEK SPECIAL NUMBERS

While the new license year does not begin until March 1 applications for the yellow on black plates that will grace British Columbia automobiles in 1940 have already begun to reach provincial traffic offices.

The reason for this is the annual rush of people who want special numbers reserved for their cars. Each year the drive becomes greater as more people land on a number that suits them.

There is one number nobody can have—just plain 1. After many years in which this was given to a private citizen the government has reserved No. 1 for the chief government car used for driving distinguished visitors.

There are several other numbers that can go to the public but they are all preceded by letter classifications for commercial or other vehicles. The plain No. 1 is for a private passenger car.

As far as possible traffic officials say they will co-operate with people who want special numbers reserved. It assists the branch in getting licenses disposed of early.

Applications reflect several quirks of human nature. Some people like to get their house numbers or telephone numbers so they can remember it easily. These people can be accommodated better in Victoria than elsewhere because the low block of numbers is assigned to this area. Premier Pattullo is one of those who has his house number on his car license.

Fireman Loses Thumb

MONTREAL (CP)—Three firemen were injured today during a four-hour fire in a North End manufacturing plant. Damage was estimated at $8,000.

Most seriously injured of the firemen was Donat Dandurand, whose thumb was cut off by falling glass. The other two firemen suffered slight cuts.

Pioneer Heads See Government

The Pioneer mine labor dispute was again officially before the provincial government today, but silence veiled a conference between representatives of the mine and four members of the cabinet.

The interview was held in Premier Pattullo's office with Dr. Howard T. James, managing director, A. E. Bull, K.C., and Dr. W. B. Boucher representing the company, and Attorney-General Wismer, Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, and Hon. W. J. Asselstine, sitting with the Premier.

The conference was an outcome of last week's action when Dr. James posted a notice at the mine laying down terms on which the operations now shut down for three months would resume. He said negotiations with the men had fallen down.

This announcement drew from the miners' union a declaration that the company was unfair, and that a basis of negotiation had been reached.

Purpose of this morning's conference with the government was not stated, and there was no statement immediately forthcoming from either the government or the mine management.

It was intimated, however, there had been some fairly plain talking.

Sweeps to Close

DUBLIN (AP)—The Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes will close for the duration of the war after the scheduled January 16 drawing. It was learned today.

Foreign exchange restrictions of numerous countries were said to have reduced support for the lottery below a profitable level.

The sweepstakes' gross take since inauguration in 1930 has been more than $350,000,000, of which the public got back about $200,000,000 in prizes.

Warning to Aggressors

Italy, Hungary Join to Checkmate Soviet in Balkans

By ROBERT PARKER

BUDAPEST (AP)—A high authority today reported the foreign ministers of Hungary and Italy had agreed on a military alliance assuring Hungary of Italian support against any invasion by Germany or Russia.

The agreement was said to have been reached by the two foreign ministers, Count Istvan Csaky of Hungary and Count Galeazzo Ciano of Italy, in Venice, where they conferred at the week-end.

This authority said Csaky was expected to arrive in Budapest tomorrow to submit the text of such an agreement to the Hungarian crown council.

If the council approves he then will return to Rome for formal signature of the pact.

Jugoslavia, lying between Italy and Hungary, was understood to be unwilling to join any outright alliance with her two neighbors. It was reported, however, that she would join in a triple friendship pact which presumably would permit Italy to move troops through her territory in going to Hungary's aid if that should become necessary.

MINORITY PROBLEM

Count Ciano was said to have urged Hungary to seek at least a temporary agreement with Rumania over the Magyar minorities in Transylvania, territory which Rumania won in the break-up of the old Austro-Hungarian Empire after the first Great War.

Dispatches from Bucharest said Rumania's foreign minister, Grigore Gafencu, was planning to visit Count Ciano in connection with Italy's efforts to settle Rumanian-Hungarian problems peacefully.

The reported decision of the Hungarian and Italian foreign ministers to recommend an alliance to their governments was said to have been reached not only because of fear that Russia might strike against a southern neighbor, but also because of disturbing advices from Germany.

These reports, which high sources said played an important role in the Venice talks, were that Nazi leaders, disgruntled with Rumanian refusal to send greater food supplies to Germany, were strongly considering marching through Hungary to Rumania.

Another reason for such a move was said to be Germany's fear that Great Britain, France and Turkey were planning to create an eastern front and that Germany must find good defensive frontier deep in the Balkans quickly. These reports were without confirmation.

By RICHARD MASSOCK
ROME (AP)—Authoritative Fascists indicated today that Italy would support Hungary's territorial claims in return for Hungary's aid in defence of the Balkans against danger of invasion by Russia.

Such responsible sources as Virginia Gayda, editor of Il Giornale d'Italia, who usually speaks for the government, denied, however, that any new formal agreements had been negotiated by Foreign Minister Count Ciano and the Hungarian Foreign Minister, Count Stephan Csaky, in their week-end conferences at Venice.

Gayda, writing for his newspaper from Venice, said the meeting of the diplomats was a warning to everybody that "Hungary is at the side of Italian policy in the general lines which it is tracing and in the methods which it intends to follow for its development, just as Italy stands besides Hungary in the particular problems which she has raised and which form the substance of her foreign policy."

PEACEFUL SOLUTION

Nothing was disclosed of the methods Italy intends to follow to keep war out of the Balkans. Gayda said that Hungary "intends to insist on peaceful methods" for the settlement of her territorial claims, particularly those against Rumania for Transylvania, a district transferred from Hungary to Rumania at the end of the first Great War.

Gayda warned, however, that such an attitude must not serve as a pretence for other countries to try to dodge "a realistic plan of frank study and reasonable solution of pending problems."

The editor then reviewed the Italian viewpoint that it would be "a fatal error" to delay settlement of problems which could be solved peacefully, considering the uncertainty of European events.

Other Fascist commentators suggested that Hungary give Rumania time to modify her uncompromising stand against a revision on the Rumanian frontier in Hungary's favor.

RED NAVAL DISPLAY

CONSTANTINOPLE, Rumania (AP)—The Rumanian liner Bessarabia arrived today, 24 hours late from Istanbul because she had returned to the Turkish port on account of Russian fleet manoeuvres reported off the Rumanian and Bulgarian coasts.

No More Recruiting Of Quebec Farmers

MONTREAL (CP)—Premier Godbout said today he had asked Dominion authorities to suspend any recruiting campaigns in Quebec rural districts because of the necessity of keeping the province's young farmers on their lands.

The Quebec premier explained at a press conference that the gravity of the province's unemployment problem and the urgency of maintaining agricultural development had prompted his request.

He said young farmers might become soldiers or enlist for other service when they could better help their country by farming. Farmers who did enlist might find themselves at the end of the war without permanent employment and a public burden, he added.

More Guards

For Boulder Dam

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States justice department said today it had recommended that steps be taken to "avoid sabotage" at the giant Boulder Dam near Las Vegas, Nev.

The recommendation, it said, followed a survey by the Federal Bureau of Investigation "some time ago" in which "no evidence of sabotage" was found. Recently the reclamation bureau placed restrictions on travel near the dam.

A state department official said meanwhile that his agency had passed on to the F.B.I. last month a rumor that a plot had been organized to blow up the huge federal project.

Less Censoring Promised British

LONDON (CP)—A more liberal news censorship policy was foreshadowed today by the resignation of Vice-Admiral C. V. Osborne as a director of the censorship division of the press and censorship bureau.

Admiral Osborne's departure followed Friday's cabinet reorganization in which Sir John Reith replaced Lord Macmillan as Minister of Information and Leslie Hore-Belisha resigned as War Secretary.

The home office announced that Admiral Osborne, a developer of the paravane, to protect ships against mines, would enter new work of national importance in connection with the specialized naval construction. (Modern paravanes are blade-like devices to cut mines from their cables).

Sir Walter Moncton, director-general of the bureau, who had offered his own resignation because of difficulties obstructing fuller war news reports, assumed personal charge of news censorship with Admiral Osborne's assistant, Vice-Admiral George Thompson, remaining as his aide.

NAVAL SILENCE

News censorship has been criticized widely since the outbreak of the war, when Admiral Osborne assumed his post. Although he had a distinguished naval record, Admiral Osborne was believed to have proved too deeply trained in the navy's traditional silence to administer a liberal censorship.

Scandinavians Ready to Fight If Invaded

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Sections of the Scandinavian press declared today that any attempt to violate the neutrality of Sweden, Denmark and Norway would mean a fight.

This was the newspapers' response to German press allegations that Great Britain and France are using aid to Finland as an excuse to gain a Scandinavian foothold for an attack on Germany — allegations which neutral observers saw as a move to intimidate the Scandinavian neutrals against helping their invaded neighbor.

The Berlin papers also had cautioned northern neutrals against providing transport facilities for Allied war materials consigned to Finland. Through Scandinavia passes the main line for shipment of war materials to Finland. Finland's success in holding off the Soviet Russian invasion has heightened the anxiety of Scandinavians, because with the lengthening of the conflict, pressure for outside aid has been increasing. German hostility towards Scandinavian participation in League of Nations collaboration on assistance to the Finns has added fresh fears.

The Swedish stand is that the desire to help the Finns necessitates strictest technical neutrality, because if Sweden were dragged into the continental conflict, she would have to concentrate entirely on her own defence — not Finland's.

SMOKE SCREEN

LONDON (CP) — The Copenhagen correspondent of the London Daily Express reported today that the Scandinavian countries have received "definite, unofficial" assurances from Berlin that the bitter Nazi press campaign against them merely is a blind to camouflage aims in other directions.

"Adolf Hitler's press campaign against Scandinavia has reached such a violent pitch that political circles here are beginning to regard it as a smoke screen put out by the German government to hide their real intentions," the dispatch said.

Effects of the "smoke screen" would be to cover up secret German aid for Finland while convincing Russia that Germany is supporting her war against Finland; to prevent news of internal disputes from leaking out, and to cover up Hitler's preparation for German action in the west or in the Balkans, against Rumania particularly, the paper said.

Before the turkey was introduced into Europe in 1524, the peacock was a popular Yuletide dish.

Demands for Belisha Report Fill British Newspapers

LONDON (CP) — Reports of suspicion and rumor throughout the country over resignation of Leslie Hore-Belisha as Secretary for War crowded the columns of the afternoon press today as they had those of the morning papers and the Sunday papers. Editorial writers demanded that Prime Minister Chamberlain make a swift explanation to satisfy public opinion at home and remove misgivings abroad.

The London Evening Standard drew a pointed parallel with the Biblical story of Mordecai the Jew who refused to bow his head to Haman outside the gates of the palace of Shushan and was reduced in favor.

"We are informed that Mr. Chamberlain may tell the House of Commons that Mr. Hore-Belisha refused to make proper obeisance before the traditions of army discipline," the Evening Standard added. "The Prime Minister's account must be full, frank and open, for only by such means can damage to the nation's cause be avoided."

ANTI-JEW EFFORTS

The News Chronicle, Liberal, said: "Members of the high military caste started a whispering campaign which intensified after the outbreak of war. It expressed itself in the form of narrow prejudice against Mr. Hore-Belisha because he was a Jew, and in stubborn objection among officers of high rank and in other influential quarters to the minister's insistence on making democratization of the army a practical reality."

The News Chronicle called the resignation of Mr. Hore-Belisha "the first really serious mistake this country has made in the war."

"It is disturbing enough that the army chiefs and their associates should have been able to exercise such power," said the paper. "It is even more disturbing that they should have deemed it proper to do so at a time when their country is fighting for its life. The fact that the Prime Minister should have given way to pressure of a clique is additional cause for justifiable resentment."

The News Chronicle's political writer, A. J. Cummings, wrote that "there is going to be a whole of a row over this unsavory business." The part Mr. Chamberlain played in the intrigue against the war minister reflects no credit on his high office.

VICTIM OF ANTI-SEMITISM?

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's action in releasing the energetic Hore-Belisha was bitingly attacked by Lord Rothermere's Sunday Dispatch, which devoted more than half of its front page to "fourteen awkward questions which Chamberlain must answer."

"Is Hore-Belisha the victim of anti-Jewish feeling among a section of his highly-placed critics?" the Dispatch asked.

"Why is the post of war minister given to Oliver Stanley—the man who made no striking success of any of his six government posts?"

"If Neville Chamberlain is satisfied that Mr. Hore-Belisha's resignation will increase efficiency at the War Office and strengthen Britain's war effort will he tell the public so at once—and with full explanations?"

SOCIAL PRESSURE

The Star said the most disquieting feature of the resignation was the widespread report that it was due to the pressure of social circles. "We wonder if those 'social circles' that engaged in the whispering campaign overlap those circles that feted Von Ribbentrop (Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign secretary and former ambassador to Great Britain) and gave him so false an idea of British life," it said.

"We are struggling to protect our standards and create out of the present chaos a nobler world. In such a crisis the pressure of social influences is at best frivolous and irrelevant, and at the worst a danger to us all."

The London Express said the public would "not be satisfied with anything less than proof from Mr. Chamberlain that the War Secretary's 'dismissal' meant the war would be conducted with greater efficiency and bring victory closer."

The paper said support for Mr. Hore-Belisha was general and asked: "If the minister must go, do all other members of the government desire to stay?"

In its news columns the Daily Express said the Trades Union Congress will withdraw its cooperation with the government unless Mr. Chamberlain assures the country the appointment of Oliver Stanley to succeed the resigned minister means there is to be no cessation in Mr. Hore-Belisha's program of reform for the army.

NATIONAL LIBERALS

The paper also reported that 32 National Liberal members of Parliament will ask their leader, Sir John Simon, to obtain a promise from Mr. Chamberlain that their proportion of ministerial posts will be restored at the earliest possible moment. Mr. Hore-Belisha was a National Liberal.

The Express' political commentator, Guy Eden, offered a new theory concerning the Hore-Belisha resignation, saying he may have quarrelled with Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, over announcement of the arrival of Canadian troops in England. The writer reminded his readers that Mr. Churchill made known the arrival of the first Canadian contingent during a broadcast, and said he may have done so before "the War Office wished it announced."

Announcement of the news had been scheduled for 24 hours after Mr. Churchill made his broadcast. The Daily Mirror attacked the government "dope press" for what it saw as an attempt to smooth over the situation and demanded answers to a dozen questions on the resignation. It concluded:

"Failing an explanation, we repeat that the government has dealt itself a staggering blow. It has relapsed with a thud lower into the morass of its mediocrity."

NO MINOR FRICION

The Times of London however, rejected any notion that Mr. Hore-Belisha's retirement was the result of friction between him and army officers.

"It would be unfortunate, apart from being manifestly wide of the facts if the facts c Mr. Hore-Belisha's resignation were really to become stereotyped as the outcome of a quarrel between the civilian head of the War Office and 'the generals,' the paper said.

"To a far greater extent than in 1914 the whole population is engaged in a titanic military struggle. There is no question of a clean-cut division between soldiers and civilians. Nor is there any longer the slightest doubt about the quarter in which the ultimate responsibility for great decisions must lie."

Recalling that the former War Secretary himself promoted Viscount Gort to be his first chief of the general staff, transferred him later to the command of the British Expeditionary Force and named General Sir Edmund Ironside to succeed him, The Times declared "it is absurd to suppose that the army as a whole is not profoundly grateful to Mr. Hore-Belisha for clearing the channels, absurd to suppose that the man who profited by the clearance bears him any personal grudge, most absurd of all to suppose that there is anything but warm approval for what is called democratization of the fighting forces in the sense of quicker and more extensive recognition of qualities of leadership in the rank and file."

"Not a word of doubt on this point has been heard in any single quarter, civilian or military. A far simpler and more natural explanation, particularly to those who have been brought into daily contact with the late War Secretary's expansive nature, is that a cumulative series of minor personal frictions—none of them, as we are assured on both sides, in any way connected with the policy of conducting the war—had gradually driven the Prime Minister to the conclusion that a change at home would make for smoother working both in the department and the cabinet.

"But in any case the responsibility lies, as it must lie, with Mr. Chamberlain and not with the generals. There will be no complaint if he finds it desirable to make more and more frequent changes."

PICTURES PRINTED

The London Daily Herald, which like The Mail published on its front page a picture of Mr. Hore-Belisha holding a terrier and contentedly reclining in a chair at his Wimbledon home, also by an odd coincidence ran a cartoon similar to the Mail's showing the War Secretary as a pedestrian victim of a big military staff car full of generals who have ignored his famous traffic beacon—the "Belisha beacon"—marking the safe crossing.

The Herald was more heated in its demand for an explanation. The paper said: "It is up to the Prime Minister to justify his drastic action in public debate before the nation... If purely personal differences between Mr. Hore-Belisha and his staff are at the root of the trouble Mr. Chamberlain will have to satisfy the nation they could not have been composed in any less regrettable way."

Japanese Plan Central Puppet Ministry in China

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese cabinet decided today that the time now was ripe for establishment of a central government for all occupied territory in China under Wang Ching-wei, former Chinese premier now at odds with General Chiang Kai-shek.

It was understood reliably that a regime similar to those already existing in Peiping and Nanking would be launched immediately but that it would not acquire actual powers until later. The Peiping and Nanking governments are run nominally by Chinese co-operating with the Japanese army.

Wang, whose final break with Gen. Chiang came just a year ago when he was ousted from all government and Chinese Nationalist Party offices because of his friendliness with the Japanese, has been living recently in Shanghai.

The program for establishment of a central government under Wang received final cabinet endorsement today after long discussion.

The new centralized Chinese government would supplant regional regimes now sponsored by the Japanese for control of occupied territory in north and south China and the Yangtze River valley.

Wang Ching-wei has wielded a powerful political influence in China since 1905. A companion of Dr. Sun Yat-sen in the foundation of the Chinese republic, he was named national government chairman in 1925.

The 59-year-old leader has renounced his goal of an independent China to assist the Japanese in establishing a "new order in east Asia." He has explained his stand thus: "We cannot defeat the Japanese, therefore we must be friends with them. They have offered us an honorable peace."

From his fortress-like residence just outside the International Settlement at Shanghai and closely guarded by Japanese soldiers, Wang broadcast appeals for Chinese soldiers to halt their campaign and yield to the Japanese.

He said the Japanese were prepared to withdraw troops from China, if Chinese leaders would accept terms and disavow Communism.

DR. GUNN NAMED

NEW YORK — Dr. Wallace R. Gunn, livestock branch Department of Agriculture, Victoria, today was named resident provincial secretary of the American Veterinary Medical Association for British Columbia for 1939-1940, by Dr. Cassius Way of New York City, president of the A.V.M.A.

The men named today by Dr. Way totaled 228 veterinarians in every state of the Union, in United States territories and in Canada. They will head up the vitally important work of the American Veterinary Medical Association in public health, its widespread research activities, its animal disease prevention program, its program for the improvement of the nation's veterinary educational facilities and its broad legislation and policy activities.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Robert James Sloan died en route to hospital here Saturday from a bullet wound in the heart. Arthur Cassles, at whose home Sloan had been living, told police he heard the report of a gun and found the man staggering in the garden, a gun in his hand.

Urged British M.P.'s Meet to Debate Belisha

LONDON (CP) — As the storm continued today to revolve about the circumstances of Leslie Hore-Belisha's resignation as War Secretary, opposition leaders, not expecting a full account from Prime Minister Chamberlain in a speech at the Mansion House tomorrow afternoon, were reported ready to press for a meeting of Parliament before the regular reconvening set for January 16.

With numerous questions still unanswered about "prejudice," intrigue and army caste—some members of Parliament were talking of a secret sitting to discuss the matter fully.

There was general agreement that in the airing of the subject and the disclosure of the real reasons for the resignation there would be a statement by Mr. Hore-Belisha and a reply by Prime Minister Chamberlain.

A large crowd, including many Canadian soldiers on leave, cheered and applauded today when Mr. Hore-Belisha arrived at the War Office for his final day's work.

Oliver Stanley, appointed to succeed Mr. Hore-Belisha in Friday's cabinet reorganization, is not expected to take over his duties until next week, due to an attack of influenza.

Emanuel Shinwell, Labor member of the House of Commons, declared in a week-end speech to his constituents that apparently "aristocratic influences" were at work and charged:

"If generals in the British army or War Office are to have their own way then all talk of democracy is simply humbug."

ROYAL FAMILY SHARES RATIONING

LONDON (CP) — Coupons were torn from the Royal ration cards at Sandringham today when supplies of sugar, bacon, butter and ham were delivered to the King and Queen and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose at the Royal residence.

The Royal Family have been issued "commercial travelers' cards" similar to those used by all people who have to move about the country.

Rationing of the Royal Family, at the King's request, will be as strict as possible. The Queen has drawn up special menus which eliminate two courses from luncheon and dinner, and has given special orders for the use of more fruit and vegetables.

Down in Stepney His Majesty's humblest subjects began the coupon existence too. There is no favoritism and most housewives regard the amounts provided as adequate.

Said Mrs. W. S. Morrison, wife of the food minister, "I am sure we shall be able to manage beautifully."

The rationing plan allows each person 12 ounces of sugar, four ounces of butter and four ounces of bacon or ham per week. Rationing of meats will be instituted next Monday.

Governor-General Ends Halifax Visit

HALIFAX (CP) — Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir, ending a three-day inspection of Halifax's war establishment, returned to Ottawa at the week-end.

In a tour packed with activity, the Governor-General had surveyed the work of the army, navy and air force at this port, while Lady Tweedsmuir studied the part Halifax women are playing in war work and saw facilities arranged for the recreation of the fighting men.

The Governor-General Saturday formally opened a services hostel established by the Y.M.C.A.

In a brief address, he said he considered the hostels were doing much to relieve boredom among the enlisted men. War, he said, was made up principally of boredom, punctuated by moments of fear. Since there was no fear here, it was inevitable there should be boredom.

Allies Get Trade Lost By Germany

LONDON (CP) — Great Britain's drive to corner Germany's world markets by negotiating new trade treaties with German customers was accelerated today.

Objective of the tightened economic warfare, supplementing the Allies' two-way sea blockade of German commerce, was described as twofold:

1. To assure maintenance, as far as possible, of normal peacetime trade relations with neutrals and expand British export trade to provide foreign exchange for buying war materials.

2. To assure that not more than normal peacetime trade goes on between Germany and the neutrals with whom she can deal overland and, where possible, to cut down Germany's European import-export business and deprive her both of supplies and foreign exchange for buying them.

Apparently linked with the trade drive was the return here of a Netherlands commercial delegation and the arrival of Paul Van Zeeland, former Belgian premier, on an undisclosed mission.

In the drive to wrest markets from Germany, reports from Istanbul said Britain and France are trying to absorb most Turkish products which, before the war, were sold mostly in Germany. Trade agreements with Turkey, France concluded a trade agreement with Greece at the week-end.

Authoritative sources said Britain had held or is holding trade talks with "virtually all European neutrals," as well as campaign for all possible American and Asiatic markets. German overseas trade has been dried up largely by the British naval blockade.

Trade agreements with Italy and Sweden already have been completed. Britain is negotiating now with Spain, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Rumania and the Balkan countries, among others. Trade talks with Soviet Russia apparently have been stalled since the invasion of Finland.

CRITICS HAIL DEBUT OF KIPNIS, BASSO

NEW YORK (CP) — Music critics of New York hail the debut of Alexander Kipnis, basso, who made his first appearance with the Metropolitan Opera Association in the role of Guernemanz in Wagner's opera "Parsifal," in which Lauritz Melchior sang the title role and Kirsten Flagstad was Kundry.

Olin Downes wrote in the Times: "Mr. Kipnis immediately won the favor of his audience. He invested the role with the utmost significance. . . . It was one of the most authoritative and sympathetic representations of the character the Metropolitan stage has seen in recent years."

Said Jerome D. Bohm in the Herald Tribune:

"The Guernemanz of Mr. Kipnis is one of the most impressive disclosed here in many a day. For not only did the Russian-American basso reveal a vocal plenitude and tonal richness which was not much in evidence in his recent appearances on the concert platform, but he invested his music with the wealth of nuance and depth of sentiment which are essential to a full realization of the composer's intentions."

New Alberta Benchers

EDMONTON (CP) — Three new benchers were named at the semi-annual meeting of the Alberta Bar Association here and W. E. Payne, K.C., of Red Deer was re-elected president. W. S. Gray, K.C., solicitor for the Attorney-General's department, was re-elected vice-president.

The new benchers are: H. S. Patterson, K.C., Calgary; J. N. Ritchie, K.C., Lethbridge, and W. H. Odell, K.C., Wetaskiwin.

Any association member enlisting for military service will retain his status in the association for the duration of the war without payment of fees, it was decided.

Canadian War Orders $65,000,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Orders placed to date by the War Supply Board amount to about $65,000,000 exclusive of $25,000,000 for railway equipment, according to Hon. C. D. Howe, Transport Minister.

Outlining activities of the board in a broadcast address last night, Mr. Howe called it "the general staff of Canada's second front line," and said it was "entrusted with the spending of almost terrifying sums of money."

Mr. Howe said War Supply Board orders list to date represented the productive efforts of 45,000 men working a full year. And in regard to the British Commonwealth air training plan he figured more than 4,000 planes would be needed, the supplying of which is a War Supply Board responsibility. New shipbuilding calls for $17,000,000 expenditure.

In this war, the transport minister said, Canada must fight on two fronts. On the first—overseas—Canadians soon would stand shoulder to shoulder with troops of Great Britain and France, facing the Rhine.

On the second front—at home in Canada—men and women must carry on the fight with equal enthusiasm, determination and vigor if those on the first front were to receive the support necessary for victory.

As Transport Minister, Mr. Howe said, he was responsible to the government and the people for the War Supply Board, "which is charged with the task of organizing Canada's second front line."

Already, he said, under the chairmanship of Wallace Campbell, a dollar-a-year man and president of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, the board had become a finely adjusted piece of machinery. It had associated itself with experts drawn from industry, commerce and the legal and technical professions from coast to coast.

Each problem came before an expert. Each decision was made on its merits.

$4,000,000 A WEEK

"It is placing from 400 to 500 orders a week, with an average weekly total expenditure of about $4,000,000," said Mr. Howe. "This is a high-paced purchasing pace and must be exceeded as large orders now impending are placed."

One important problem of the board had been the outfitting of men in Canada's armed services, he said, and wherever there was a lack of uniforms it was rapidly being rectified.

Canadian industry was turning out jackets of the sweater type 10,000 a week; blankets, 20,000 a week; boots, 13,000 pairs a week; gloves, 13,000 dozen pairs a week; uniforms, 7,000 a week; great coats, 3,500 a week.

Of training planes required, 1,282 would be wholly manufactured in Canada except for engines, Mr. Howe said. Eight hundred and 70 complete aircraft were on order in England and would be assembled in Canada, and 593 aircraft were being manufactured in the United States.

"In addition 1,622 aircraft, less wings, are on order in England," he said. "Wings for these will be manufactured in Canada and the aircraft will be assembled here. Aircraft deliveries from abroad are expected to start in May."

OVERHAULING

When the training program reached its peak, he said it was expected between 3,000 and 4,000 airplane engines must be overhauled during a period of 12 months and the War Supply Board was organizing the Canadian aircraft industry for that work.

SHIPBUILDING

Also a large shipbuilding program was in process of organization, divided into three parts: Small wooden boats, larger speed boats and naval vessels.

Tenders had been invited for some 72 boats, from 18-foot power dinghies to steel ships of the British whale catcher design, involving expenditure of about $17,000,000.

"Our shipbuilding industry will have its hands full in meeting the required delivery dates," said the transport minister. "Both the Canadian and British governments will share in this program."

Canada's M.P.'s To Plan for Peace

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation designed to ease the impact of economic problems which will come with victory and peace may be a feature of the parliamentary session which will open January 25.

With the memory of the last war's aftermath fresh in their minds, members of the government have been studying measures which might anticipate the conditions which are inevitable when peace comes to a country geared to a mighty war effort.

While Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his colleagues appear convinced the present struggle will be a long one, it is understood steps are being taken to present at the forthcoming session a measure to provide a form of insurance against unemployment to cover the immediate post-war period.

Already, through the operations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and in other directions, the government has endeavored to envision and guard against economic dislocation at the end of the war.

According to persistent reports, the government will bring in measures to provide that those who will be engaged in civilian industry during the war will make some contribution toward a fund to serve as a backlog when war-time industry will no longer be needed.

Creation of a more flexible and better controlled financial system in recent years is expected also to be an aid in stabilizing the economic system when peace comes. Some legislation looking toward the problems of peace is expected to be offered by the Conservative, Social Credit and Co-operative Commonwealth Federation parties in the House.

Because the war has not yet entered the scale which all parties anticipate it must inevitably reach, the demand for supplies from Canada has not been as great as generally expected.

But officials foresee that soon the productive capacity of Canada will be taxed to the limit and a great number of people will be engaged in work which will end with war.

Some appointments to the Senate, where there are 12 vacancies, are expected before Parliament opens.

Sir Arthur Currie Success Recalled

LONDON (CP) — The memory of Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian forces in the first Great War as a civilian who "succeeded" where brass hats had failed, was evoked by the London Daily Herald today in connection with the resignation of War Secretary Leslie Horne-Belisha.

Hannen Swaffer, political commentator of the Herald, criticized Prime Minister Chamberlain for what he claimed was bowing to pressure of the generals against Mr. Horne-Belisha.

Soldiers from the Dominions found "to their disgust that the old gang is on top again," Swaffer said, adding: "Canadians remember how in the last 'do' their chief general, Sir Arthur Currie, who had been a mere real estate agent, had succeeded where conventional brass hats had failed."

Refugees in B.C. Settling Down

CALGARY (CP) — "A former economics professor at Prague University has become an expert tractor operator; a doctor who graduated from the same college has become a splendid carpenter." So Fraser McConnell, supervisor in charge of the Sudeten settlement at Tupper, British Columbia, described ways in which more than 500 Czechoslovakian refugees had adapted themselves to their new Canadian homes.

On 20,000 acres of land purchased at the request of the federal government, these people were finding freedom and happiness as farmers and dairymen, said Mr. McConnell.

"The things they like best about Canada are the friendliness of neighboring settlers and the fact that they don't have to report to police for every action," he said. Among the colonists are Czechs, Slovaks, Ukrainians and a few Jewish families of mixed religions, education and avocations. But they are bound together by an ardent distaste for Nazism.

Among those who came to the settlement last April were the doctor, the professor, glass workers, a violin maker, leather workers and cabinet makers. There is a former member of a grand opera troupe from Vienna; an expert ski instructor who owned a large chalet; an ex-member of the German Reichstag whose two daughters were educated in England; there is a typewriter salesman and a horticulturist from the Royal Botanical Gardens in Vienna.

"Many of the single men have expressed willingness to fight for Britain in the war. They feel, naturally, that war should have been declared after Munich," said Mr. McConnell.

Several of the Sudetens had been in German concentration camps, he said. They confirmed all reported terrors of those institutions, but feared to elaborate, lest it might mean hardship for relatives at home.

Hardwicke Visits Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Sir Cedric Hardwicke, English stage and screen star, spent Saturday in Ottawa as the guest of Sir Gerald Campbell, British High Commissioner, and later left for Montreal en route to Hollywood. He discounted reports he intended to offer his services to the Canadian government in the war and indicated he would continue his film career.

G. J. Shapiro Dies

MONTREAL (CP) — George Jerome Shapiro, 48, commercial traveler in western Canada for a number of Montreal firms dealing in women's wear, died at the home of his mother here last night. A native of New York City, Mr. Shapiro came to Montreal at an early age and moved several years ago to Vancouver, where a son, George, resides.

Spin More Cloth, Gandhi Tells India

WARDHA, India (CP) — Mohandas K. Gandhi bluntly told his Congress (Nationalist) Party yesterday that more home spinning of cloth and good will toward the country's minorities are necessary for a "civil disobedience" campaign in behalf of Indian independence.

Gandhi long has advocated universal use of the spinning wheel and the wearing of homespun cloth as a token of Indian unity and fortitude as well as a panacea for unemployment.

"I cannot lead an undisciplined army to victory," Gandhi declared in his newspaper, apparently warning against any disorder in connection with the Congress Party's independence day observance January 26, when he intends to test the attitude of his followers toward a possible disobedience campaign.

Gandhi and his party are demanding complete independence for India as the price of co-operation with Great Britain in the war.

relief I get from Sloan's"

Driving is no child's play. Take the wheel of a bus, truck, transport or car for hours on end and you'll know how muscles can play out. Arms, legs, shoulders and back generally feel it most. But Sloan's gently patted over the weary muscles brings quick relief. Fatigue poisons in the tissues are generally the cause of the trouble. The action of Sloan's stimulates the circulation and so helps the blood carry off these poisons. And that is why quick relief follows.

There are many things that we do while at work or at play, which may strain muscles or tire them so that they soon ache exasperatingly. When this occurs, Sloan's is the sensible treatment. Better keep a bottle of this fine liniment in the house.

The Public Waits

VIRTUALLY ALONE IN THE ROLE OF apologist for the Chamberlain ministry in the "Hore-Belisha affair"—rightfully deprecating the suggestion that it become stereotyped as the outcome of a quarrel between a civilian and "the Generals"—The Times of London implies that something had transpired which had gradually driven the Prime Minister to the conclusion that a change at home would make for smoother working both in the war department and in the cabinet. And while it pays the warmest tribute to the work of the temporarily retired Secretary of State for War, notably in its reminder to the general public that "it would be absurd to suppose that the army as a whole is not profoundly grateful" to Mr. Hore-Belisha, it sounds the warning that the responsibility "lies, as it must lie, with Mr. Chamberlain and not with the Generals."

This interim "explanation" by the London daily may be satisfactory to its somewhat limited clientele. It has been, and still is, the government's sounding board, especially in matters involving important international, as well as national, politics and procedure. As part of the chorus of comment which appeared in last Saturday morning's editions of the most prominent of the London dailies it said editorially that the new army, "thanks largely to him . . . is in a fair way to come into existence," but hurriedly went on to suggest that in Mr. Hore-Belisha's removal "there is no reason to suppose that this retirement marks the extinction of a political career which has been distinguished by the one most essential quality of drive." Now it is well known, of course, that The Times had frequently criticized the War Minister, partly no doubt because the policies he inaugurated were policies which shocked a large and influential section of those who rely upon The Times for their guidance in all matters of public concern. Mr. Hore-Belisha had broken with tradition. This appears to have produced excellent results—even on the showing of The Times—but, obviously, there is yet the possibility that in giving rein to his "quality of drive" of which the newspaper speaks he may have attempted too speedy a pace. And it is advanced seriously that the man to whom he gave preference in the early stages of his reorganization plans—we mean Viscount Gort—is not now in agreement with him. Of this, perhaps, we shall learn more when the issue is aired in Parliament.

How much of the angry comment of practically every other London daily and the major part of the provincial press of Great Britain is warranted by the facts, facts known only to the cabinet and the army chiefs, the sequence of events should reveal. In any case, and this is vital to the whole Allied cause, there should be no relationship between this domestic issue and the program laid down by the governments of the two empires which have taken on a job that must be prosecuted efficiently until its chief objective has been reached. But the reference of The Times on Saturday and today to this most startling of governmental developments in Britain since the war began—recalling again that it appears almost alone in its apologetics for the ministry as it also had been practically alone in its criticism recently of Mr. Hore-Belisha—brings back to our mind the editorial which appeared in the great London daily a couple of weeks before Munich. In effect it then suggested, and the government promptly repudiated any association with the suggestion, that it might be just as well if Britain and France agreed to let Herr Hitler have the Sudeten areas of Czechoslovakia if that was the only way to prevent war. We know what happened.

Raking up history is unprofitable in any practical discussion of the grim business to which the British Empire has engaged itself. This newspaper, ever since Anthony Eden was dropped from the Chamberlain ministry two years ago next month, and right up till the government at Westminster saw its appeasement policy thrown overboard by the Prime Minister at Birmingham last March, persistently declared that Hitler sooner or later would have to be fought. Then Canada was not involved. She is now directly involved. Her sons are waiting their call to the Maginot Line. Our people are committed to an undertaking which is costing them—at a conservative estimate—$1,000,000 a day. They, as well as the people of Britain, want to know that nothing will be done to disturb their confidence in the men directing the job.

What of the Balkans?

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO IT WAS SUGGESTED that eventually the whole of the Balkan states, with Italy in the West and Turkey in the East, would come to some arrangement under which a solid bloc would offer resistance to any south or southeastern invasion either by Germany or Russia individually or both in active military alliance. On the face of it this looked then, as it does now, a feasible and sensible agreement on the part of all concerned, particularly as it would, to some extent, at any rate, simplify the Allied campaign in its general implications and discourage Russian or German—again individually or as military allies—designs on the Near East.

In the last day or so there have come rumors that Italy and Hungary have reached, or are about to reach, an agreement on a policy calculated to suggest to both Berlin and Moscow that further political and eventual military excursions into the Balkans would meet with organized resistance on a large scale. King Carol of Rumania said on Saturday for the Soviet government's special benefit that his country, if it is attacked, will fight "as one living wall." And he coupled with this general promise of action the definite intimation that Bessarabia—taken from Russia after the last war—"will always remain Rumanian by the force of our arms."

Italy's position is nothing like as clear as a glance at the map and consideration of political developments would imply. She hates Bolshevik Russia and obviously is determined to prevent any invasion by that country of the Balkans—which she considers, and quite naturally, her major political sphere of influence in addition to that she wields in her African possessions. But her real relations with Germany are still obscure, save that the ties of the Rome-Berlin axis appear much looser than they were before the deal between Hitler and Stalin.

Hungary and Rumania, of course, still have some delicate unfinished business on their own account which Italian promises of aid to the former in the event of a Russian invasion will not remove. But if Rumania and Hungary could agree about the future of Transylvania, or leave it as unfinished business until the world has recovered its sanity, the whole course of the Balkans might be less intricate. Russia's former promise to aid Bulgaria in her demands for the Dobruja territory restored to Rumania after the war does not seem to be the sinister factor in future moves as it was at one time. At worst, however, the Balkans remains the enigma it always has been. Over developments there, nevertheless, the major and deciding conflict may be fought—with the oil of Rumania and Iraq the prize.

To Four Million Accounts

CANADA IS PREPARING TO FLOAT ITS first war loan of this new war. In this the financial people of Ottawa have the benefit of experience from the last great war. The temper of the country encourages the government to face the problem of war financing in forthright manner. Our financial machinery at the beginning of this war enables us to set a course that would have been virtually impossible in 1914. The circumstances should help the Canadian people to avoid many of the demoralizing consequences of war and post-war readjustments that proved so difficult last time.

The coming war loan, like probably all loans floated by Canada during this war, will be on a domestic basis. Canadians will provide the principal and receive the interest. The debt will be owed to ourselves in Canadian funds. There will be no exchange or other problems inherent in external borrowing. It is the expectation of the government that some of the real savings of the people will be converted into war loan bonds. A total of $1,734,800,000 is held by depositors in savings accounts in chartered banks. These deposits are in more than 4,000,000 accounts. This probably means that one out of about every three people in Canada has a savings account. The appeal to these 4,000,000 will be that by converting real savings into war loan bonds, they can make a vital contribution to Canada's war effort and at the same time gain a safe and more profitable investment.

Walter Duranty, now in Finland, gives a good description of the conflict in a recent dispatch to the New York Times: "This strange battle continues in the woods and semidarkness. Both sides are clothed in white hoods, which are scarcely visible against the snow. All the Finns are woodmen, unafraid of night and loneliness. They know every trail through the woods and feel that the trees are their friends. But the Russians are frightened groups. They do not like to trek alone and are afraid of the dark. The Finns, on the other hand, are an individualistic race, accustomed to going out and cutting timber in the lonely forests."

Trickery in Alberta

From Financial Post
Alberta's Social Credit government has been guilty of many misdeeds, but one of the most scandalous is the use of public funds for purely political purposes.

Early in their career Premier Aberhart and his associates made use of public funds to finance distribution of political propaganda. Now that an election is drawing near they are at it again.

Apparently Premier Aberhart intends the Alberta taxpayer to finance his election campaign. Political pamphlets prepared by the Social Credit Board and printed and distributed by the government publicity bureau are being given wide distribution. One such pamphlet, "The Records Tell the Story," has been distributed to the number of 15,000 or more. Yet the Edmonton Journal finds it on examination to be filled with the most flagrant misrepresentations. It is a deliberate piece of political propaganda paid for by public funds and bearing the coat of arms of the province.

Political radio broadcasts are also being given by Premier Aberhart, his ministers and their aides. Although designed to promote the political success of the Social Credit Party these broadcasts are paid for out of public funds. To finance this and similar propaganda, the Alberta cabinet found it necessary to make an additional appropriation of $22,000 for expenses of the publicity bureau.

This is not the first time a provincial government has used public funds for political purposes. It is seldom there has been more deliberate misuse.

BROCK

DOWN IN OTTAWA, they have made Mr. L. W. Brockington a kind of one-man brain trust to the Prime Minister. No better brain could have been selected for the purpose in view. Mr. Brockington ("Brock") to every cowboy in Alberta, every wheat farmer from the lakes to the mountains is going to help Mr. King prepare answers to the questions which members shoot at him in Parliament.

I hope they give Brock his head, for he is quite the wittiest and most devilish fellow in the land. Hansard is dull nowadays, so dull that nobody reads it but a few fellows who are paid to and the odd politician who wants to dig up some dirt out of a misguided speech delivered by his opponent before the last war. If they would only let Mr. Brockington jazz up the ministerial answers a little, if they would only let him put his after-dinner style to work, replete with some of his best stories and limericks, Hansard would be the most popular book published in Canada.

I suppose it is too much to hope for. The real genius of the man will be reserved until after working hours, for a few privileged listeners, and Parliament will go on boring itself to death. What democracy really needs is not more brains, but more laughs to keep it healthy.

PROGRESS REPORT

AS I TOLD YOU yesterday, the robins are getting the best of me again, stealing all my cherries in the spring, all my strawberries and raspberries, and now are denuding my cotoneaster bushes and mountain ash tree. But I have found a way to handle them. I throw things at them from my window, without stirring from my desk. But the only thing handy for throwing are apples from my trees, apples that I have produced with a year of spraying, pruning and cultivating. They make an excellent thing to throw at a band of robins. It has taken me two days to realize that, to save a few inedible berries, I have wasted a large part of a box of sound apples. So the robins have won all along the line—cherries, berries, apples. This is to report that I have given up and surrendered. The robins have won out. And they add insult to injury by eating the apples I throw at them.

FUNNY THING

A FUNNY THING has happened in North America in the last few days, and a complete reversal of the process of the last few years. Ever since the Roosevelt government came into power it has deliberately tried to spend more than it took in, believing that this net amount would increase purchasing power and bring business recovery. The King administration in Ottawa, however, rejected this theory flatly and tried to keep its deficit as low as possible. Now we find Mr. Roosevelt cutting down, working rapidly towards a balanced budget, while the King government, under the necessities of war, is spending on a huge scale, with gigantic deficits ahead.

You should observe this process closely, but of course you won't, even though it will affect your pocketbook and the value of your wages. When the Roosevelt government more than balanced its budget towards the middle of 1937—collected more total taxes, including those for social security, than it was spending—business suddenly went into a tailspin, into the well-known recession of the autumn of 1937. The government started to spend again. Business recovered and now industrial output is at an all-time high, a little higher than in 1929.

The question is whether these developments were inevitable or merely accidental. The question is whether the business of North America can get along now without a shot in the arm from the government on borrowed money. If the strange parallel between government spending and industrial activity was inevitable and not an accident, then the United States is in for a business decline and Canada is in for a business rise. Right now, quite unconsciously, we are all being placed in an economic test tube and the economists will have a good time studying us during the next year or so. Whatever happens, we, as usual, will be the guinea pigs.

DANGEROUS LADS

THE DIES COMMITTEE of the United States Congress also has been having a good time lately, chasing the illusive Red to his lair. After months of startling testimony from the lunatic fringe, it reports that there is no real danger of an upheaval in America after all. There are less than 1,000,000 American radicals and they are disappearing rapidly now that they see how Communism and Fascism, in practice, are precisely the same and not nice to have around your dinner table.

The committee's report is hailed with delight and relief, as if America, up to now, had been in imminent danger of putting a Stalin in the White House. The country, says the committee, is safe from revolution so far.

This is faintly humorous. The country is in the middle of a revolution just as formidable as that which gave it birth in the first place. We all are. But it is not the revolution that the Communists or the Fascists expected. It is not the revolution that Marx said was inevitable and was certain would occur everywhere in the last century. It is something new entirely that conforms to no textbooks and no prophecies and, for that reason, is not recognized by the Dies Committee or by anybody else.

The revolution just keeps on going while politicians assure us that nothing is happening. And the danger to America is not from the Reds or the Nazis within our ranks, organized under those names. The names are

Big, Cold and Kind

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

BY THE TIME that this piece gets into print I will be on my way across Canada, doing a bit of writing, a lot of speaking, and a whole lot more listening. Going east to Halifax I speak for the Canadian Clubs on this war and the next peace. Coming west again for the Institute of International Affairs I speak privately to smaller groups, mostly in university towns, on "Union Now," or federal union of democracies.

I have made quite a few such trips before, but this is the most extensive. This kind of speaking is easier on the speaker than political campaigning. There is no tension and the speaker does not have to nurse his voice like a delicate baby, as is necessary in long political campaigns. Also the speaker can use the same speech in almost every town. If the press reports any of it other than locally, all that is necessary is to give out some newsy bits from time to time before settling back to the same old standby. Incidentally, this is all that the leading politicians ever do in any national political campaign, as any reporter can tell you if he has had to cover any particular leader on a prolonged trip. The only variation is that the leaders carry on a running debate between themselves from day to day, with exchanges back and forth. These are life-savers for the harassed reporters, who cannot make bricks without straw even in election campaigns.

There are three things which tend to make it difficult for traveling speakers in Canada. The first is the weather. The second is size. The third is kindness.

Nobody can do anything about the first. If one is going from the Pacific Coast through the prairies in January, for instance, the best precautions are to dig out the old red flannels and pray for chinook winds. The size of the country means that one has to travel nearly every night. And for the first 100 years of railroad travel North America was so cocksure that nothing good could come out of Europe that our sleeping-car arrangements are still more primitive than in any other field of existence. That is, unless one is wealthy enough to pay the small fortune they charge you here to get on the train what you get on every ship on every ocean, and on every sleeping train in some other countries, namely a decent and stationary berth and a place to get into it, and out of it, other than from the public thoroughfare.

EXCESSIVE KINDNESS, however, is what makes most traveling lecturers say "never again" after the first few thousand miles. Occasionally hosts and hostesses never seem to realize that the visiting speaker needs nothing on earth so much as a chance to have three or four hours' real sleep in a real bed, if he has been shuttling back and forth over the country for the previous few weeks; that it takes a bit of time to think and keep up to date every day, even if you do use nearly the same speech, and that you have to have a bit of time to figure out what to tell the good lady at home to try to do about the overdraft at the bank or the next payment on the ice-box.

But all this is run-of-mine stuff. After one has been at the game for a while one gets to know how to get the time for the afternoon snooze, and what to say when the local magnate offers to show you through "the plant."

Actually, if you can stand the gaff, a cross-Canada speaking trip is an experience extremely valuable. For in the unofficial gatherings where people really talk one gathers up the real bits of information which enable one to piece together what this country is really doing, saying and thinking.

With Canada at war—the strangest war yet, and the second in one generation—I expect to hear even more than usual. And with all due respect to the newspapers, the most important part of what I shall hear probably never has been and possibly never will be in any newspaper. For that is the one inescapable lesson that I always learn on these trips—that there is a gap between the record of public happenings in this country and of the living changes.

THE KAISER AND GOD
Now Applicable to Adolf Hitler
(Written during the World War by Barry Pain, inspired by a telegram from the Kaiser to the Crown Princess saying "I rejoice with you in Wilhelm's first victory. How magnificently God supported him!")

Let by Wilhelm, as you tell, God has done extremely well; You with patronizing nod Show that you approve of God, Kaiser, face a question new— This—does God approve of you?

Broken pledges, treaties torn, Your first page of war adorn; We no fouler things must look Who read further in that book, Where you'd in time of war All that you in peace forswore, Where you, barbarously wise, Bade your soldiers terrorize.

Where you made—the deed was fine— Women screen your firing line. Villages burned down to dust, Torture, murder, bestial lust, Filth too foul for printer's ink Crime from which the apes would shrink— Strange the offerings that you press On the God of Righteousness!

Kaiser, when you decorate Sons or friends who serve your state, Not that Iron Cross bestow, But a cross of wood, and so— To remind the world that you Have made Calvary anew.

Kaiser, when you'd kneel in prayer Look upon your hands, and there Let that deep and awful stain From the blood of children slain Burn your very soul with shame; Tell you dare not breathe that name That now you glibly advertise— God as one of your allies.

Impious braggart, you forget, God is not your conscript yet; You shall learn in dumb amazement That His ways are not your ways, That the mire through which you trod Is not the high white road to God.

To whom, whichever way the combat rolls, We, fighting to the end, commend our souls.

enough to sink them. If anything dangerous to democracy develops, any really disagreeable movement, it will never make the mistake of calling itself Fascism or Communism. It will certainly call itself the only safeguard of democracy. The boys to watch are those who are out to save the democratic system with a fancy scheme. The honest fellows who openly oppose democracy are quite safe and can be allowed to talk on the street corners. There aren't enough of them to hold up the traffic.

BYGONE BUTTER

From Manchester Guardian

Mankind seems to have made fairly early discovery of the means of making butter. There is mention of it in Genesis and Herodotus, about 500 B.C., described the methods of butter-making among the Scythians. The allusions of the ancient historians, however, seem to indicate that the commodity was "little known or used among his fellow Greeks at that time, and his contemporary Hippocrates evidently regarded it as a medicament rather than a food, prescribing it "for external application." Some people might think that that would be the best thing to do with a meager four ounces a week: "Not to be taken" might be the appropriate label for such a precious morsel.

WELL-KNOWN CITIZEN'S REST BROKEN NIGHTLY BY SLUGGISH KIDNEYS

Mr. L. A. Rhodes, Building Contractor, Tells How Mosby's Tonic Relieved His Sluggish Kidney Action—Had Backache and Was Always Worn Out From Lack of Sleep Before He Found This New, Scientific Compound.

Mr. L. A. Rhodes of 3425 Ewart Street, Vancouver, B.C., is now adding his name to the Long List of Widely-known Local People who are publicly praising and endorsing this "Splendid New Medicine," known as MOSBY'S TONIC, which is now being introduced to crowds daily here in Victoria at The Cunningham Drug Store (formerly Vancouver Drug Co.), Fort and Douglas Streets.

Mr. Rhodes has lived in this Section 41 years, and is well-known in the Building and Construction Trades. What he has to say about Mosby's Tonic is so truly interesting that it needs no preliminary introduction whatever, so we will say only that this is one of the Best-known Citizens of this vicinity and will then pass on at once to his Sincere Statement, which follows:

"For the past 10 years I have been a victim of sluggish kidney action," said Mr. Rhodes. "Recently this got so bad that I had sharp pains in my back, and my back was so sore and achy that sometimes I couldn't bend my body one way or another without simply flinching with pain. I had to get up repeatedly at night, due to my sluggish kidneys, and as a result of this constant night rising I would be weak and worn out all day. I just couldn't get my proper rest. Besides this kidney sluggishness, I suffered from stomach gas and indigestion. Bowels were constipated most of the time and I had to take many laxatives.

Now Mr. Rhodes Feels Like Different Man

"Many of my friends in Vancouver and Victoria know how I suffered during the past year, and now I want my friends to know how much Mosby's Tonic has done for me. Before I had finished my second bottle of this medicine I felt like a different man. I never thought I would find anything to help me so completely. Now I am relieved of those sharp pains in my back, and I can get to bed at night and get my proper rest. I always feel refreshed in the morning when I get up. It also cleared the gas and bloating from my stomach, and regulated my bowels. I gladly give this statement and hope what I say here will save somebody else from the years of distress I had to endure."

20 Ingredients in This New, Scientific Formula

MOSBY'S TONIC contains 20 ingredients, including 15 Liquid Extracts from different Roots and Herbs. It acts on bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys. Makes suffering people feel different all over. The price of this New Compound is reasonable, due to the immense volume in which it sells. So don't hesitate. Get Mosby's Tonic—TODAY!

BRITISH ISRAELITES

"Tara and the Events in Ireland" will be the subject of E. E. Richards' lecture, which will be given under the auspices of the British-Israel World Federation on Monday at 8 in the Campbell Building. With new pictures, Mr. Richards will continue the amazing story of the famous aged Mound of Tara, the contents of which, it is believed, will astound the world and settle many great claims, the why and whereof of which will be explained by the lecturer. The events in connection with the outlawed Irish Republican Army, which threatens renewed strife in the island, and its relation to Tara and the British Throne and connection will be dealt with.

Fight Gas in Local Store

Employees of Kirkham and Co., 612 Fort Street, coped with the menace of gas today for the first time since the war began. But they were not overcoming choking fumes spread by enemy belligerents.

Their trouble was ammonia, released throughout the store by a broken pressure gauge in the basement freezing plant. Tears gathered in the eyes of employees who ventured into the shop when it opened as the sharp fumes assailed them. They retreated to the sidewalk while fans were sent into action to clear up the atmosphere. No material damage was done. J. C. Leaman, manager, reported. Chief concern was felt for the store's cat, "Fluffy," left on mouse patrol over the weekend, but the pet was seen wandering about unscathed in the back part of the building after the doors had been opened.

The break must have occurred sometime between 7 and 7.30 this morning," Mr. Leaman said. "The gas was sufficiently diluted when I arrived to let me reach the back of the store to secure a gasmask."

After opening ventilators, the manager allowed an employee, equipped with a mask, to descend to the basement to turn off the main jet and conditions began to improve shortly after 8, although the employees remained out of doors for another half hour.

Modern equipment, Mr. Leaman stated, provided adequate protection throughout the building. Produce, he said, would not be spoiled. It was fortunate, he remarked, that ammonia was used in the freezing plant in place of more deadly odorless gases. The sharp nature of the vapor made its detection simple and prevented any danger to those working on the premises.

LANGFORD

Miss Josephine Seabrook and Mr. J. Taylor, teachers of St. Matthew's Sunday school, supervised a children's party on Saturday in the Women's Institute Hall. Games, contests and music were played. Kathleen Willard was presented with a prize for perfect attendance, and Bill Guiney and Mary Guiney also won attendance prizes. The following obtained prizes for Scripture homework: Kathleen Willard, Beverley Fidler, Joan and Jack Guiney.

NAME OFFICERS OF SHRINE BAND

Noble George H. E. Green was elected president of the Gizeh Temple Shrine Band at the annual meeting held Friday evening in the bandrooms. He succeeds Noble Fred Francis in the office.

Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Noble W. A. Burnett; band manager and secretary, Noble Harry F. Davis; treasurer, Noble Mark Cuzner; librarian, Noble Harry Davis; assistant librarian, Noble John H. McConnell; hand sergeant, Noble George R. Ford and trustees, Nobles Walter Wilson and Harold Parfitt.

Mr. Francis, who was president of the group for the past five years, was tendered a vote of thanks for his services.

Mr. Green expressed appreciation of his election to the office. It was an honor to head an organization that was always ready to assist in raising funds for any worthy cause, he said.

Mention was made of the band's work with the Victoria Girls' Drill Team on several occasions during 1939, and it was hoped that opportunities would arise again for the two groups to work together.

SAYS LOYALTY TEACHERS' DUTY

Loyalty to country and to throne were duties of teachers emphasized by Dr. V. L. Denton, principal of the Provincial Normal School, in an address to the Literary Society of the school Friday afternoon.

Dr. Denton said that every teacher should foster loyalty in his community and he cautioned that teachers, not always fully cognizant of the aspects of the world's political problems, could make unwarranted remarks in their reference to the war.

Britain and France had made the beginning of a new Europe and had set up a model of the future with the establishment of their present trade agreements, he said.

The war aims of the Allies, he continued, had been definitely stated by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.

The men students defeated the women for the second time, in a quiz contest staged by the society.

A review of current events of the past week was presented by D. Williams.

ANSWERING THE CALL
When the time comes again
The call will hear the call
No matter where they are
They will answer one and all
Back to home they will go
To guard it day and night
No matter where the danger lies
They will fight with all their might
They make no war themselves
But set at God's command
To stop the violence, restore peace
And bring peace unto the land.

Weddings

FAREY-BRYANT
At the First United Church on Saturday evening at 8.30, against a background of white chrysanthemums, the marriage of Edith Bryant, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bryant, 637 Frances Avenue, to Mr. Leonard Arthur Farey, second son of Mr. G. Farey, Los Angeles, Cal., and the late Mrs. Farey, was solemnized by Rev. Hugh McLeod in the presence of many friends of the young couple.

Mr. George Peaker, church organist, played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register Mrs. H. Allison, cousin of the bride, sang "Because" (d'Hardelot).

Mr. Bryant gave his daughter in marriage. She was a radiant picture in her wedding gown of white satin, made in princess style, with self-covered buttons, sweetheart neckline outlined with net ruching, the puffed sleeves tapering to the wrist. Her filmy veil of net and lace fell from a coronet of orange blossoms, and her only ornament was a small diamond cross, a family heirloom. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

Mrs. W. Bryant, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor in a floor-length gown of orchid taffeta, with short puffed sleeves and long lace mittens and a doll hat of flowers with matching tulle veil. Miss Ella Goodwin, the senior bridesmaid, wore a bluish coral taffeta frock with puffed sleeves, a doll hat with tulle veil, and silver slippers, and carried a colonial bouquet. Miss Sylvia Bryant, niece of the bride, was the junior attendant in a Snow White dress of turquoise blue taffeta, with matching doll hat with long streamers of pink velvet.

Mrs. E. Farey was best man, and Messrs. W. S. Bryant Jr. and G. Bryant, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

The reception was held at Alex's Hall, Burnside Road, where the bride and groom stood beneath a floral arch with white wedding bells to receive their friends. They were assisted by Mrs. Bryant, mother of the bride, wearing navy blue lace over taffeta, with hat en suite, and Mrs. H. Renaud, sister of the bridegroom, in pale blue net, both wearing corsages of pink carnations.

Supper was served from a table arranged with pink carnations in cut glass vases and centred with the three-tiered wedding cake.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. C. Larson, Seattle; Mrs. J. Wilson, Edmonton, and Mrs. J. Almond, Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Farey left later for a honeymoon in Vancouver and Seattle, the bride traveling in a blue lace frock, with Viking blue coat trimmed with grey fur, and navy accessories. On their return they will make their home at 176 Regina Avenue.

MILLER-LAMBRICK
St. Aidan's United Church, Mount Tolsme, on Saturday evening at 8.30 was filled with friends of the principals for the wedding of Elizabeth Eleanor, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Lambrick, Fulton Road, Gordon Head, and Mr. Douglas James Miller, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Miller, 1454 Ocean View Road.

Standard baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums were arranged in the chancel for the ceremony, performed by Rev. T. G. Griffiths, with the organist in attendance.

The bride was given away by her father, and wore a frock of white faille taffeta and a brief jacket with short sleeves. Her veil was attached to a headpiece of lily of the valley on the crown of her head and reached to the hem of her floor-length skirt, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

Miss Sylvia Lambrick was her sister's bridesmaid in a dainty frock of forget-me-not blue point d'esprit over taffeta with a taffeta bolero, and on one side of her head she wore a frill of point d'esprit centred with roses and forget-me-nots. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white chrysanthemums. Mr. William Miller was his brother's best man, and Mr. Robert Macgurnie was usher.

Tall baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums were arranged at the home of the bride's parents for the reception. Mrs. Lambrick was dressed in sapphire blue velvet with a matching hat, and the bridegroom's mother wore a gown of navy blue sheer over figured taffeta and a blue hat. Corsage sprays of pink carnations adorned both their ensembles. The bride's cake centred the attractively-appointed supper table.

After a honeymoon on the mainland, for which the bride left in a navy blue outfit with a copper-tone coat, Mr. and Mrs. Miller will make their home on Ocean View Road.

GRANT-LONGBAUGH
SEATTLE—Pale pink tulips, daffodils and forced quince blossoms made a springlike decorative theme at the University Unitarian Church for the wedding Saturday afternoon at 2.50 of Carol, youngest daughter of the late Mr. W. M. Longbaugh and Mrs. Longbaugh, Seattle, and Mr. John A. Grant, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Grant, 1764 Lullie Street, Victoria, B.C. The Rev. Alexander Winston read the service.

The bride wore a Schiaparelli blue wool street costume with brown accessories. Her corsage was green orchids and quince blossoms.

Miss Beth Longbaugh, her sister's only attendant, wore dusty pink wool with black accessories and a corsage of fuchsias. Mr. Harold Williams was best man, while ushering were the Messrs. Albert King and Oliver Ester. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. William M. Warren, an old family friend. The bride's mother was gown in plum-colored crepe with black in plum-colored crepe with black accessories, and Mrs. Grant of Victoria, mother of the bridegroom, was in blue, with wine accessories. Both wore corsage bouquets of cyclamen.

The couple received friends informally in the vestibule of the church, after which they left on a two-month's trip through the south.

'Rock-a-Bye Baby' Composer Dies
BOSTON (AP)—Eternal sleep has come to Mrs. Effie I. Canning Carlton, 84, whose slumberous melody to the long-loved lullaby, "Rock-a-Bye Baby," brought the sandman to the bedside of millions of babies—but never to one of her own.

In impoverished circumstances, she died yesterday in Boston's City Hospital—victim of a cerebral hemorrhage suffered several days ago—in a room provided by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

A former actress, she composed the melody to the old Mother Goose rhyme to lull to sleep the restless baby of a neighbor.

She took her composition to a Boston music publisher at her teacher's urging and he snapped it up as a find and popularized it by permitting its use in a road show.

He had the song copyrighted. Within a few months, the sales ran to $20,000, and before he died several years later more than 300,000 copies were sold. Mrs. Carlton received few royalties from the song.

The hemorrhage attack came shortly after she returned from a motion picture in which her song was used. Her husband, also an actor, died several years ago. They were childless.

Inhaling tuberculosis germs is the most frequent way of becoming infected with this disease.

Venerable Couple Mark Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cooper, 1426 Vining Street, yesterday celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding, which took place on January 7, 1890, at the Baptist Church, Salisbury, Wiltshire, England. They were "at home" in the afternoon and in the evening, surrounded by members of their family in Victoria and many old friends called.

Six of the eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Cooper are living: Arthur V. Cooper and John E. Cooper of Victoria, Mrs. Lavinia Elsie of Saskatoon, Mrs. Carl Mackie (Muriel) of Telly, Sask., Mrs. Hugh Petty (Vera) of Payton, Sask., and Mrs. Edward Groves (Margaret) of Victoria, and they have 12 grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper were the recipients of baskets of golden and yellow chrysanthemums from their family, one from the Belmont Ladies' Aid, a framed testimonial from the Victoria Saskatchewan Association, an organization which Mr. Cooper was instrumental in forming; also telegrams from many parts of Canada, and a cablegram from Salisbury, England, from Bert Case, who was Mr. Cooper's first apprentice in his painting and paperhanging business in Salisbury over 50 years ago.

Celebrating the day with them was their bridesmaid of 50 years ago, Mrs. L. Jacobs of Victoria, a twin sister of Mrs. Cooper. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a hand-made lace cloth and centred with a three-tier wedding cake surmounted with a golden horseshoe and wedding bells, flanked with silver candelabra holding lighted yellow tapers. Mrs. Alfred Watt Addresses W.I.

Mrs. Alfred Watt, M.B.E., president of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, was the speaker at the social meeting held by the Victoria Women's Institute at their meeting in the headquarters, Fort Street, on Friday afternoon.

After touching upon the work of the institutes, Mrs. Watt emphasized the importance of keeping the interest of the members alive, particularly during this period of world crisis. She praised the efforts of those institutes which had organized choirs and drama groups, such efforts tending to keep up the morale of the people, and being of great educational value, she said.

The Georgian Choristers gave a delightful program, under the direction of their conductor, Mrs. Georgina Watt, with Miss Ethel James at the piano. Mrs. J. C. Radcliffe sang two charming solos, and Miss James contributed several musical monologues at the piano, delighting the gathering. Mrs. N. Brown, convener of the afternoon, tendered the thanks of the institute to Mrs. Watt and her singers for their splendid entertainment.

Tea was served by Mesdames Blair, Terry, Upward, Bowers, Gough, Wilkinson and Laird. Mrs. W. F. Bridge was the happy recipient of a lovely cake plate. Announcement was made of the V.W.I. Drama Club court whist to be held in the institute rooms, 635 Fort Street, on Wednesday at 2 p.m. for members and friends. Phone Mrs. E. S. Blair, E.6126 for reservation.

Ten Rules on How to Keep a Husband

Psychologist Tells Hollywood Actress
How to Avoid Rift

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A set of psychological "10 commandments" was employed by Dr. S. L. Katzoff, marital expert, in solving the "Eternal Triangle" case in Hollywood.

Dr. Katzoff believes they can be applied successfully to most such domestic rifts, he said today.

Seeking Dr. Katzoff's aid, an actress insisted she still loved her husband and wanted to keep him, but seemed inclined to do something rather drastic about the other woman.

Dr. Katzoff told her that was not the way to work it. To build a solid reconciliation, he came here a few days ago from San Francisco, where he is medical director and consulting psychiatrist of the Institute of Human Relations.

He talked with both wife and husband.

The upshot was that the couple went off to a secluded resort for a second honeymoon.

Following are Dr. Katzoff's "commandments" for winning back a straying mate:

1. Pretend to know nothing of the infatuation or new love affair.
2. Do not criticize or condemn the third party.
3. Do not criticize or condemn the mate.
4. Take an inventory of your own emotional assets and liabilities.
5. Begin to do the things one has neglected to do, and shun things which should have been left undone or unsaid.
6. Try to remember that the greatest mischief maker is the human tongue.
7. Begin a campaign of undermining a mate's resistance by being unusually kind and attentive.
8. Give him merited praise, more than ever before. (Feed him mostly through his ears.)
9. Compete with your competitor in every way.
10. Keep on visualizing the goal—that of rewinning him, and do everything in your power to accomplish that aim. Give particular attention to: tactfulness, praise and making him feel important.

Evacuees Had Gifts From I.O.D.E. for Christmas

Several letters just received by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire from the Dowager Marchioness of Reading, from Mrs. Massey, wife of the Canadian High Commissioner in London, from some of the divisional organizers, and from other officials, indicate the value of the tons of new warm clothing and blankets forwarded by the order for the British evacuees in Great Britain and the keen appreciation of all those concerned.

In the first consignment of these goods which arrived in London, there were over 700 blankets, of which 100 were forwarded to the fishermen on minesweepers in the North Sea, whose immediate response to the need for this lonely and dangerous service has excited the admiration of the Empire.

In her letter as chairman of the Women's Voluntary Services for Civil Defence, Lady Reading writes: "The clothing which has been sent by the I.O.D.E. has come at just the right moment as it has turned terribly cold this week. The majority of the gifts will reach the recipients in time for Christmas. This close personal touch which such warm-hearted feeling gives, makes a further bond of sympathy and affection between our countries."

FOR PERTSHIRE

In one of the letters, it was noted that among the cases of clothing received in London, one was ear-marked "For Perthshire" which detail received due attention. A bit of information which will be of particular interest to the chapters in the province of Quebec, is that Mrs. Vincent Massey, chairman of the War Emergency Committee of the Canadian Women's Club, sent some of the cases of clothing from Quebec to children evacuated from Paris—a happy touch of entente cordiale.

For the reception, unpacking and distribution of these gifts from the Daughters of the Empire, the Canadian High Commissioner obtained quarters in the warehouse of the Exhibition and Publicity Department of the Canadian government in London. The trundle-tables in the building were covered with white sheeting, so that the mint-new condition of the clothing should not be impaired.

A letter from a regional organizer has this paragraph: "I wish the kindly people in Canada could have seen the children's faces when they received these new garments. Some of them had never before had anything new—always something old, cut down and much mended. Just to say 'thank you' seems so inadequate for this magnificent present from the Daughters of the Empire."

Another letter has this sentence: "I doubt if any gesture has ever received such spontaneous appreciation."

In forwarding the gifts, the War Emergency Committee enclosed a card bearing the order's crest, which reads: "Here with all the good wishes from the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire in Canada. It may help to add to the happiness of your Christmas. Will you also regard it please as a sign that the women of Canada are thinking of you all in the Old Country in these difficult days, and are eager and anxious to do what they can to help you and yours."

Former M.P. Dies

DUNDAS (CP)—W. O. Sealey, 80, Liberal Member of Parliament for Wentworth from 1908 to 1912, died last night at the home of a nephew, C. W. Sealey. Mr. Sealey built the first apartment houses in Hamilton in 1912 and was responsible for much of the city's building progress about that time.

The frog-mouth, an Australian bird, sleeps during the day in an upright posture, thereby resembling a tree limb and making itself inconspicuous. The bark-colored feathers of the bird help to carry out the deception.

'Cash and Carry' and Camouflage Gown New in Paris

By MATHILDE

LONDON.—The Paris mid-season shows have opened tentatively, but with greater success than was anticipated. All collections have been brought up to date and Schiaparelli's "cash and carry" garments are a notable feature.

On these clothes big pockets are seen, also aprons and boleros—but all frocks, coats and suits are extremely practical. Camouflage is another highlight, Molyneux having introduced a coat in two shades of grey which looks like a suit. There are many frocks which look like coats and suits which look like frocks, but the coat looking like a suit is, I think, quite new. Tweeds are the most popular for suits, the jackets being slightly longer and nipped in tightly at the waist—and another novelty is the tweed blouse, cut on mannish lines. This is very smart worn with a skirt under a tweed overcoat.

I saw a cycling outfit this week which rather appealed to me. It was in hand-woven Air Force blue wool, and it had a divided skirt and a sailor collar which could be zipped up the centre to make a hood. A blue and white check jacket worn over the dress completed the ensemble.

Another coat which took my fancy was a green, white and mauve checked tweed with a swing back and a two-way belt. The belt could be fastened across the back of the coat to give a nipped-in waist effect, or the belt band could be fastened down the front to outline the slit pockets.

NO MORE SLIMMING

It is good-bye to slimming for the National Service girl today. To keep a pencil silhouette on such dishes as roast pork, apple sauce, sage stuffing, cabbage, peas, and potatoes, followed by sponge and jelly trifles, is very difficult.

So members of the W.A.A.F.'s and the A.T.S. are giving up the struggle, with the result that they are putting on weight steadily. Cereal and milk, pork sausages and fried bread, bread, butter, marmalade and tea is a typical breakfast in the diet sheet of the W.A.A.F., while members of the A.T.S. get fried bacon and eggs, bread, margarine and tea.

For many of the girls who have joined up these enormous breakfasts mark the biggest change in their lives. Most of them formerly began the day with a glass of orange juice and perhaps a piece of toast, but now you should see them tucking into a hearty breakfast, following it up with an equally substantial lunch, tea and supper.

The biggest shock comes when they return home on leave and find that their clothes do not fit. It is perhaps a good thing that they are not allowed to discard their uniforms in public during wartime.

The results are, however, showing in the dress shops and ready-made frocks are being displayed with a range of 40 to 46 inches for the hip measurements. It is not so long ago that 44 inches was classed as an "outsize."

Socialite Girls Dance Partners For Soldiers

TORONTO.—One of the most popular places in town with the army is the Active Service Canteen operated by the Citizens' Committee for Troops in Training at 93 Yonge Street. The canteen is on the top floor of the building and besides the lunch counter and tables where the men buy meals and refreshments at extra low prices (turkey dinner, 35 cents), there are chesterfields and easy chairs and a radio, a piano, phonograph and games.

The most popular game is shooting Hitler. A rifle fires an electric beam accurately at a little man who moves continuously. He has to be hit on the shoulder for a bull's-eye and when hit turns around.

The rifle's really accurate and the boys crowd around it continuously.

Not a night passes without some kind of entertainment. Wednesday and Saturday nights are dance nights when the soldiers can bring their best girls or dance with one of the girls with the green armbands.

The girls with the armbands (to identify them from those who have come with soldiers) are volunteer dancers, introduced by the committee. Most of them are socialites. As many as 60 have turned up for one dance. That gentle-voiced woman back in the kitchen putting salt in the soup and skinning onions probably has a couple of cooks back at her palatial home getting supper for herself and her family.

The canteen committee is headed by Mrs. Schuyler Snively, its president, and includes Mrs. Douglas Weld, Mrs. Ruggles George, Miss Mary Plummer, Mrs. Larratt Smith, Mrs. John R. Lamb, Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Mrs. Harold D. Warren and Mrs. R. O. Alexander.

JAMES BAY P.T.A.—The January meeting of the James Bay P.T.A. to be held tomorrow evening at 8, will take the form of a social evening. A brief business meeting will be followed by contests and games, after which refreshments will be served by the ladies' committee.

British Plane Saves Ships From Mines

LONDON (CP)—The Royal Air Force coastal command is a combination of bloodhound and shepherd dog. Fliers bomb German mine-laying seaplanes at their bases and guard ships against sea perils.

The resource and initiative shown by the crew of one R.A.F. coastal command aircraft on patrol duty over the North Sea saved several inward-bound merchant vessels from possible damage by German mines.

Just before dusk, while the plane was on patrol, the front gunner observed two black specks in the water. Coming down low in the poor light, the pilot recognized them as mines and they were in a shipping lane used daily by scores of vessels passing to and from British ports.

A few minutes earlier the fliers had seen a number of merchant ships that soon would be traversing that lane in the darkness, so the problem was to destroy the mines. The pilot spent some minutes circling the area while the crew prepared to machine gun them, but he found that visibility was so poor he would have to fly low to accomplish the purpose and this involved risk to the plane from the exploding mines.

The pilot set off for mine sweepers he had seen in the vicinity, called them with lamp signals and guided them to the spot where the mines were. Darkness had fallen as the second mine was destroyed and an hour later the first of the incoming merchantmen passed over the spot.

Explorers' Club Honors Governor

By R. J. ANDERSON

NEW YORK (CP)—The Explorers' Club, which numbers among its members men renowned in the field of geographical exploration and travel, has recognized as a kindred spirit the Governor-General of Canada, Lord Tweedsmuir.

On him was bestowed the club's most prized honor, "Patron of Exploration," which only once before had been awarded. The accompanying scroll, presented during the club's 36th annual dinner at the week-end, was accepted on behalf of His Excellency by Hon. Loring C. Christie, Canadian Minister to the United States.

Before a distinguished gathering of more than 400, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, retiring president, who is a native of Manitoba, with a record as leader of several Arctic expeditions, recalled that in 1818 David Buchan commanded a Polar expedition and that the family since had been prominent in the field of exploration and in the national life of Great Britain.

Mr. Stefansson said Lord Tweedsmuir encouraged exploration "in every way" and that explorers visiting Ottawa "always have easy access to the highest figure in Canada. Outlining the Governor-General's career, he said Lord Tweedsmuir "is so versatile it is scarcely credible when you recite his accomplishments."

Mr. Christie, in replying, said the club's action "will delight all Canadians."

On the scroll is the inscription: "The Explorers' Club has elected the Rt. Hon. Baron Tweedsmuir of Elfield Patron of Exploration in recognition of his long-continued support of geographical discovery, first as John Buchan, private citizen of Great Britain, and then as Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada."

HONOR FOR ROOSEVELT
President Roosevelt, "for his personal interest in exploration and for establishment of the (Byrd) Antarctic service," was elected an honorary life member of the club.

An honorary membership also was conferred on Dr. Isiah Bowman, Canadian-born president of Johns Hopkins University.

To Sir Hubert Wilkins, noted Arctic and Antarctic explorer, was given the Explorers' Club medal for outstanding achievement. Sir Hubert was the first to fly across the Antarctic and the first to pilot an airplane across the Arctic Ocean.

In his retiring address Mr. Stefansson said exploration would be one of the "casualties" of the war with the world's three great exploring nations, Great Britain, Norway and the Soviet Union out of the field. Summing up, he declared bluntly: "Exploration is in the doghouse."

The "bright spot in a gloomy outlook" was the emergence of the United States as an exploring nation, Mr. Stefansson added. Little official governmental assistance had been given in the past to geographical exploration, but with congressional support of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, now under way, it was "the apparent intention of the United States to maintain exploration for some time to come."

The club presidency, held since its formation in 1905 largely by Polar explorers, went this year to Dr. Herbert J. Spindler of the Brooklyn Museum. Noted for his work in the tropics, Dr. Spindler is an expert on the Mayan civilization.

C. R. Morrison, Veteran Newspaperman, Dies
EDMONTON (CP)—Charles Ross Morrison, 67, news editor and managing editor of the Edmonton Journal for 19 years prior to 1929, died at his home here Saturday.

Born in Edinburgh, son of a Scottish newspaperman, Mr. Morrison had a newspaper career in Toronto, New York, San Francisco, Spokane and in other cities before he came here 30 years ago.

His family lived in New Zealand and the United States before going to Toronto, where his father was city editor of the Mail. Later Mr. Morrison began his newspaper career as a junior reporter on the Mail staff.

After several years at journalistic work in New York he and his father joined the staff of the old San Francisco Call, where he died of cancer April 18, 1906, while covering the San Francisco earthquake and fire.

Relatives surviving include a brother, A. J., former stage and screen actor, of Los Angeles.

United Win Hard Match

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

WITH EACH succeeding year, the phenomenon of Connie Mack's ageless youth becomes a greater marvel of baseball. As the milestones of life are passed, most men of his years are inclined to turn their gaze toward the past, instead of the future, but the ever-youthful leader of the Philadelphia Athletics continues to be the exception to the rule.

The observance of Mack's 77th birthday recently found him eagerly planning for another season, his 57th in organized baseball. Despite the brilliant past that has graced his career, Mack's eyes continue to be pointed toward the future. Several weeks ago he nominated his son, Earle, as his successor, but predicted that Earle would be carrying many grey hairs before the reins are turned over to him.

Mack, an exponent of the theory that a man never grows old, has surrounded himself with youngsters. No other leader in the majors has put as much emphasis on youth as has the slim boss of the Athletics. He is constantly calling to the young, testing them in his crucible and endeavoring to forge them into big league material. The colleges and the sandlots alike are his happy hunting-ground. He brings in youngsters no one in the game ever heard of before, and never seems to tire in the task of turning them into finished players.

Further, Connie always can be found keeping in pace with the changing times. When it was evident that lights had become an integral part of the game, he did not hesitate to install them at Shibe Park. In many other ways, he refurbished and brought up to date the methods of management in the Quaker City. He has never been content to sit still and watch while the world passes him by. If anyone ever had the formula of youth, Connie Mack possesses it.

Truly, Cornelius McGillicuddy is the grand old man of baseball, who richly deserved the salutes sent him from all corners of the diamond world, not only for the contributions he has made to the sport but for the example he has set for all, in and out of the game, of how to grow old and still remain young.

Walter Lindrum, the great Australian billiards player who is still recognized as world champion, has broken Joe Davis' world record under the new ball line rule, 2,002, with a magnificent break of 2,466. Lindrum was playing in a novel contest in aid of war charities in which he opposed 12 amateurs in a match of 24 sessions lasting 12 days. In all, he conceded 24,000 points, but, in spite of this huge handicap, beat his opponents by 36,352 to 27,988.

Lindrum's brilliance was almost incredible. He scored on an average at the rate of 909 an hour and his breaks included 1,859, 1,051 and 1,036, besides his record break of 2,466. The Australian also holds the world record under the old rule with a break of 4,137, whereas Davis' highest break under the old rule is 2,501.

Lindrum has been showing excellent form recently. In a game of 1,000 up against Tom Manusu, a well-known Australian race-horse owner, who received 900 start, Lindrum made a break of 1,002 unfinished in 51 minutes. Manusu broke the balls and put the red in ball, with the white close to the ball-line. Lindrum then made a cannon, got the balls into position and finished the game in one visit to the table.

Wanderers Hand Army Bad Beating

The Oak Bay Wanderers rugby machine came to life with a sudden roar Saturday afternoon at Macdonald Park and flattened the Army for a smashing 28 to 4 defeat in a scheduled Barnard Cup fixture.

This performance by the Oak Bay lads indicated that they have plenty of strength to make the cup race a three-team affair. In their first day of action early in December the Wanderers looked like a broken-down machine and suffered defeat as a result. But Coach George Deacon appears to have made a fine repair job on the unit for it really worked beautifully in Saturday's scrap.

The outcome of the Army-Wanderers game leaves all three teams—the other is J.B.A.A.—on an even footing, each having a win and a loss to its credit. The opening half of the schedule is halfway completed.

The Wanderers outplayed the soldiers in every department. They hit a championship-like stride at the outset and kept the pressure on the soldier line throughout. Every member of the squad was in top form and turned in smart exhibitions. Oak Bay forwards were vastly superior to the Army front line and the backfield worked splendidly, pulling off some neat runs.

Jack Grogan was in the lime-light again, kicking 11 of his team's points. The Oak Bay full-back with the trained boot kicked four conversions and made a free kick good. Don Garrison, five-eighths, wing three-quarter Harry Barber and forwards Bill Gornall and Don McLean all crashed over for tries behind the Army line.

The other points were gained on a penalty try and a conversion by Acland.

Tom Carney saved the soldier crew from a complete shellacking by booting a field goal in the first half. Wanderers had an 8 to 4 lead at the half.

An exhibition senior game played at the same enclosure saw J.B.A.A. take the measure of the Navy, 24 to 0.

An intermediate fixture played earlier in the afternoon resulted in Victoria College handing Wally Stipe's J.B.A.A. team a 6 to 0 defeat. The win gave the college-boys the lead in the second half of the Heyland Cup race.

For one thing a lot of players, including several perennial members of the "beef" trust, already are signed.

Championship clubs are popularly supposed to face the most trouble rounding their players into line, but Cincinnati Reds at this early date have 14 under contract for 1940, and New York Yankees, who won't put their papers into the mail till next week, aren't expecting much fuss. That World Series bonus every year seems to keep the Bronx Bombers happy.

The first of the Reds to sign was Third Baseman Bill Werber, who has a pretty practical opinion of his own value, and one of the first was Paul Derringer, the big pitcher who used to be quarrelsome about his figures.

Pitcher Bucky Walters, the National League's most valuable player, and First Baseman Frank McCormick slapped their names on two-year contracts without hesitation.

Paul Waner, the Pittsburgh Pirate—persistent holdout, jumped to terms last November after conferring briefly in New York with President William E. Benswanger and his new manager, Frank Frisch.

FELLER SIGNED
Cleveland Indians have Bob Feller, Mel Harder and Jeff Heath signed and sealed, and they were about the only three that might have been expected to give the tribe trouble. Feller was reported to have been given $25,000.

Boston Red Sox gave Joe Cronin another five-year player-manager contract last September and followed up this coup by signing Ted Williams, Jimmy Foxx, Bob Doerr and Jim Tabor, four better than fair faces, for the 1940 campaign.

Detroit Tigers already have Charley Gehring and New York Giants Carl Hubbell. Chicago Cubs have most of their stars and other clubs have numerous lesser-known players in line.

If trouble comes, as some little is sure to, the storm-centres may be these:
Red Rolfe, third base star of the Yankees, who is looking for a raise. He started a futile hold-out last year, finally signed at the club's terms and then had the best year of his career.

Dolph Camill of Brooklyn Dodgers, who was offered a $1,000 boost to sign at the end of the season and refused. Now President Larry MacPhail says the lapping Latin will have to take the same as in 1939.

Doc Cramer and Joe Voisik of the Red Sox, whose pay Boston might try to trim to make them

RANGERS ROLL TOWARD RECORD—Just one short of the National Hockey League record for consecutive games without a defeat, the mighty New York Rangers hockey team blasted the New York Americans off the Madison Square Garden ice with a 6 to 2 victory—running their string of games without a defeat to 16. Above, a player pile-up as the Rangers miss a goal try. Top to bottom are Pike, Rangers; MacDonald, Rangers; Robertson, Americans' goalie; Conacher, Americans; and Smith, Rangers.

Baseball
Expect New Holdouts
NEW YORK (AP)—Like a siren of spring, Dizzy Dean's hold-out squawk over the week-end aroused slumbering baseball fans to the fact that contract time is here again.

In the next week or two documents with the dotted lines will have been mailed to just about every eligible major leaguer, but the chant of "Ole Diz" isn't likely to get much of a chorus.

West Road Win From Cabbies

Unbeaten in every start this season, West Road basketball squad defeated the Quarter Cab team Saturday night in the Y.M.C.A. gym 42 to 28, brothers Bud and Ralph Mitchell sparking the triumph with 27 points between them.

The game was a senior B division fixture on a three-game Victoria and District Basketball League program.

In the second game Palm Dairy mauls triumphed over Unities 23 to 16 to deadlock the standing of both teams in the women's division No. 1 berth.

An intermediate A boys' division play, Cabbies outscored Bombers 30 to 22 to take over first place in the division.

The feature game of the program, West Road vs. Quarter Cab, was fairly even for the first half, the boys from the Saanich leading by five points when the whistle sounded. But Quarter Cab weakened badly in the second under a stiff West Road onslaught. They scored only nine points to the West Roaders' 20. Quarter Cab had only five players.

ALWAYS ON TOP

The Palm Dairy girls went out from the start in the scoring end of the game with Unities and were never behind. They led 13 to 5 at the half way mark. Unities outscored them 11 points to 10 in the second session, but that was not enough. Lucille Sparks was top scorer for Palms with 12 points. Mary Peden was high for Unities with seven.

Cabbies led by 10 points at the half and held off a stiff offensive on the part of Bombers in the second period to finish victorious 30 to 22. Fields was high man for the winners with 10 points, while Mason and Ross led Bombers' scoring with five points apiece.

The referees were Bob Malcolm and Jack Phillips.

Kruse Outsmarts Rugged Meehan

With his 230 pounds giving him a weight advantage of 30 pounds besides extra height, Pat Meehan from New York tried conclusion with Bob Kruse at Rocky Brook's wrestling show at the Army and Navy Auditorium Saturday but lost by the old fall in the fifth round.

There was action all through and the bout pleased the crowd. Meehan went after Kruse from the start, and Bob was quite ready to mix it. Meehan was remarkably fast on his feet for a big man, but found Kruse also speedy. Bob got his prized hammer lock on in the second, and forced Meehan to tap the canvas. Meehan got a body scissors on in the fourth, and Bob looked like a vice, could do nothing but forfeit a fall. Meehan tried to repeat in the fifth, but Bob worked like a flash to turn the tables, and got Meehan's shoulders to the mat for the winning fall.

Flying tackles gave George Wilson, former Washington University football star, a win over Mel Peters. Wilson got his first fall in the third with a surfboard hold. A series of flying tackles and a body press ended the bout in the next round.

Lionel Speller got one fall over Jim Casey in the preliminaries. Mohan Singh and Larry Bedding drew.

NO INVASION BY VARSITY STUDENTS

VANCOUVER (CP)—The University of British Columbia student council announced Saturday there will be no "Victoria invasion" this year when the Thunderbird English rugby squad goes to Victoria January 13 to play Victoria Reps in a McKechnie Cup game.

For several years past a number of university teams have traveled to the capital to play exhibition games with Victoria squads. Lack of funds was given as the reason for capculation of the invasion.

JUVENILE SOCCER

Victoria juvenile soccer players traveled to Cowichan Saturday and defeated the Prince of Wales Fairbridge School eleven, 5 to 2, in an exhibition football match. The score was 2 to 1 at half time for Victoria.

Within Game Of Tying Hockey Mark

WEEK-END SCORES

Toronto 3, Canadiens 1.
Rangers 3, Detroit 0.
Canadiens 2, Chicago 1.
Boston 6, Americans 2.

Toronto Maple Leafs counted heads today and dug in for the grimmest struggle of the National Hockey League schedule.

The Maple Leafs stayed up with the leaders Saturday night by defeating Montreal Canadiens 3 to 1 at Toronto, but they lost the league's scoring leader, Gordon Drillon, for two weeks or more. Drillon, who suffered a deep foot cut, went to the shelf with his great playmaking teammate, Syl Apps, who has a broken collarbone.

The absence of both members of the game's greatest scoring combination couldn't have come at a more unfortunate time for the Leafs, despite the fact they are better equipped with reserves than any other team in the league. After playing the Americans at New York tomorrow they meet Boston Bruins at Toronto Thursday and the leading New York Rangers at Toronto Saturday.

Toronto's embattled troops remained even with Boston in second place, two points below Rangers, but how long they could stay that way seemed to be entirely up to the ability of their reserves at hitting in the clutch.

IRVIN MOANS

Coach Dick Irvin moaned: "We farmed Don Metz and Hank Gouddy to Pittsburgh too soon." But manager Conny Smythe, philosophizing that "it might have been worse," said Lex Chisholm would go to bat for Drillon and make good.

Drillon's injury came in the first period while he and captain Walter Buswell of the Canadiens were chasing a loose puck.

That took the sting from the Maple Leaf attack for a while and the crowd of 8,678 had to be content with hard checking and swift skating until Reg Hamilton

Heafner Still Leads

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Handicapped by storm showers, Clayton Heafner of Linville, N.C., continued to set the pace in the annual Los Angeles open golf tournament yesterday, shooting a 73 for a 54-hole score of 212. He held a two-stroke lead over Amateur Johnny Dawson and a three-stroke lead over Ben Hogan of White Plains, N.Y., Al Krueger of Beloit, Wis., and Mark Fry of Oakland, Calif.

Tournament officials hoped to continue with the final round today if the storm subsides. Stanley Horne of Montreal qualified for the fourth round with a total of 220.

Set Dates for Major U.S. Golf

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States Golf Association, at its annual meeting Saturday, elected Harold W. Pierce of Boston president to succeed Archie M. Reid of New York.

Pierce was chairman of the championship committee, a member of the executive committee and a vice-president of the U.S.G.A. in 1939. Reid, son of the late John Reid, one of the association's founders, was its president in 1938 and 1939.

The list of 1940 championship dates and sites also was approved. The open will be played June 6 to 8 at the Canterbury Golf Club, Warrenville, O., with sectional qualifying rounds May 27 to the amateur, September 9 to 14, at the Winged Foot Golf Club, Mamaroneck, N.Y., with sectional qualifying August 27; the women's tourney, September 23 to 28, at the Del Monte (Calif.) Golf and Country Club, and the public links at the Racquet Golf Course, Detroit, July 22 to 27.

The biennial Walker Cup matches with Great Britain still are booked for August 30 and 31, at the Town and Country Club, St. Paul. The U.S.G.A. has submitted the customary invitation to the Royal and Ancient Golf Club at St. Andrews, but as yet the latter neither has accepted nor declined the invitation.

But in view of the cancellation of the 1939 Ryder Cup matches and the 1940 women's Curtis Cup matches because of the war, there is little chance the Walker Cup contests will be played.

RANGERS BLANK DETROIT FOR 17th CLASH WITH-OUT DEFEAT

found the range in the fifth minute of the third period.

After goalie Claude Bourque had fought them off gallantly for nine more minutes, Leafs struck again through Robert (Red) Heron, who punched in Gus Marker's rebound. Toe Blake reduced the margin to 2 to 1 on a rink-long dash with Louis Trudel at 17:02 but Nick Metz made victory sure just 44 seconds later.

It was the ninth successive defeat for Canadians, but they came back last night in Chicago to break the string by whipping Black Hawks 2 to 1 before 12,608 spectators. George Mantha gave the Habitués a lead in the first period and then potted the winning goal in the third after caddy Dahlstrom had scored for Chicago in the second.

By defeating Detroit Red Wings 3 to 0 at New York last night, Rangers advanced to within a game of tying the league record of 18 straight games without defeat. Kilby Macdonald scored in the second period and Babe Pratt and Bryan Hextall in the third, while Dave Kerr registered another superlative shutout in goal.

Defeat left Detroit in a last-place tie with Americans as Bruins licked Americans 6 to 2 at Boston. The Bruins' kraut line from Kitchener, Ontario, featured the attack, Bobby Bauer scoring twice and Milt Schmidt once, while Woody Dumart supplied three assists.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Karlin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest, it just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Bile poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

A new bowel movement "doctor" always gets at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harrowing and getting, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a hundred but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Substitutes reduce anything else. See

Dominoes Whip Mount Vernon

Victoria Dominoes Invaded Mount Vernon over the week-end, and marked up a thrilling 41 to 40 victory over the Washington basketball outfit. The win, gained in the last five seconds on the strength of a basket by Busher Jackson, was sweet revenge for the setback suffered by the Dominoes at the hands of Mount Vernon here several weeks ago.

Art Chapman, veteran centre of the Dominoes, was the spark-plug in their attack with 19 points to his credit. The big fellow was looping in one-handed shots so fast the home players were near frantic.

Brother Chuck also had his scoring eye in with 10 points. With about five minutes of play remaining the Dominoes enjoyed a five-point lead. Mount Vernon rallied to score three baskets and take a one-point margin, but Jackson came through with his game-winning basket.

HEAVY SCHEDULE
Tomorrow night the Dominoes will resume their practice sessions at the Sports Centre in preparation for the two-game series Friday and Saturday against the San Francisco Hong Wah Kues, touring professional Chinese club. For the next weeks the Dominoes will be a busy aggregation. The following week-end they engage Abe Saperstein's Harlem Globe Trotters and January 19 and 20 play the touring All-American Football Stars.

Toe Blake Only Two Points Back
Hector (Toe) Blake of Canadiens, who has hit a consistent pace all season, picked up a goal and an assist during the week-end to cut the leading margin of Toronto Maple Leafs' Gordie Drillon to two points in the National League Individual point scoring race. Another two points behind are Milt Schmidt of Boston and Neil Colville of New York Rangers. Five players are tied for the last spot in the big seven.

Troops to Play English Squads

LONDON (CP)—Hockey-playing members of A Battery, First Field Brigade, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, of Kingston, Ont., practiced at Wembley stadium today for two games to be played against Wembley Monarchs January 20 and 27. The games were arranged at request of the Canadians.

Arrangements are in the making for a representative team from the Canadian Active Service Force to meet Canadian players of the English National Hockey League soon.

Canada's soldier-sportsman were welcomed at both Wembley and Harringay, London's two main rinks. At the latter they practiced with Racers and Greyhounds, like the Monarchs members of the National League.

Percy Nicklin, manager of Harringay is in touch with Major Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, general officer commanding the Canadian force, in regard to matches for his rink.

J. F. Ahearne, secretary of the British Ice Hockey Association, plans to put a Canadian soldiers' team temporarily in the National League. If the Canadian Hockey players, played a 4 to 4 overtime draw with Nelson Maple Leafs here Saturday night and failed to improve their third-place position in league standing behind Trail Smoke Eaters and the Maple Leafs.

SAVED FROM DEATH—Stranded on the thin ice of Lake Au Sable at West Branch, Mich., this doe lay helpless 500 feet from shore, unable to regain its footing because of the glass-like surface. A rescue party working with a boat, boards, pole and leather strap, managed to get the animal into the boat and ashore, where after receiving a massage to restore circulation in its legs it was released.

Alberni Holds Big Fight Card

ALBERNI—The Alberni Amateur Athletic Club has lined up a top notch card for Saturday, night, headlining Gordie Woodhouse, formerly of Vancouver and now of Alberni. Gordie B.C. welterweight champ, will meet Norman Dawson of Vancouver. Dawson has promised to give Woodhouse one of the most interesting fights of his career. Interest is running high in local fight circles, and there is much speculation as to the outcome.

In the semi-final Jimmie Dumont, Port Alberni lightweight, lower mainland champion and one of the smartest fighters to show to Alberni's ever increasing fight public in recent years, will take on Emil (Kid) Gagne, a comparative unknown from Montreal. Gagne comes to Alberni with a highly touted reputation for being a hard hitter.

The balance of the card will bring together eight local boys, who are making rapid strides in the fight game. Leon Perrett will meet Jack Briery, Jack Raymond will meet Billie Brown, Jack Kirkham comes up against Don Cowley, Glen Ross will meet Delbert Boutlier. In the curtain-raiser two popular midgets will clash. These boys, Dennis and Terry White, promise their usual hard-fought battle.

The club will also sponsor a card at Cumberland on January 20, in preparation for its proposed Vancouver Island Golden Glove tournament to be held in Alberni, February 9 and 10. This tournament has already aroused great interest throughout the island. Entries to date include Alberni 15, Victoria 9, Cumberland 2, Northfield, Nanaimo and all other island points have promised to send strong contingents.

SPOKANE, Wash. (CP)—Trail Smoke Eaters increased their lead in the West Kootenay Hockey League here last night by defeating the winless Gonzaga University Bulldogs 5 to 4 in a game that saw the collegians give a surprising display of strength.

Mickey Brennan's solo dash late in the third period broke a 4 to 4 deadlock. Bob Marshall scored two other Trail markers and Bunny Dame and Jimmy Morris got the others. Cheddy Thompson scored three times for Gonzaga and Jerry Pettigrew added the fourth.

CUNNINGHAM OPENS LAST TRACK SEASON

NEW YORK (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, 30-year-old veteran, opened his eighth indoor campaign Saturday night by running a one-minute 56.1-second half-mile in the Columbus Council Knights of Columbus Games in Brooklyn.

There is more than a suspicion that this will be Glenn's last whirl around the spiked-shoe circuit. For one thing, there is a feeling that the University of Kansas, to reward him for his years of faithful missionary work, will give him a good job. For another, Glenn himself feels it's time he settled down.

From the other races and their times in the year's first board meet, this should be a good season for others besides Cunningham. Don Lash was back in his old stride in winning the two-mile. Jim Herbert looked to be back in form in winning the 500 in 58.6, only a second short of the record.

Letters to the Editor

WHY NOT VICTORIA?

To the Editor:—The small city of Nanaimo has just completed a scheme of financing an arena at the cost of $90,000, and are now calling for tenders for the erection of such a building. Now surely the capital of our province could finance and build an arena and civic auditorium, and one that would be a credit to our city. I hope to approach the City Council very shortly, and ask their co-operation in bringing this to fulfillment.

APPRECIATION

To the Editor:—I write to thank Capt. Elmer Philpot for his concise warning in tonight's Times, i.e., "One Threat to All." The conflicts in Europe and the Orient are linked up. The same forces are behind the one objective—domination of the world by treachery and force, and as I see it, to be obtained from organization within countries as well as from outside. Also, it is no sudden plan, but laid long ago and worked for unceasingly in secret. Now at last in the open.

Mr. Bruce Hutchinson's interpretation of the attack on Finland would be hard to believe, but for knowing of it, from personal encounters (since the attack started) with such people.

CANADIANS GUESTS OF CONNAUGHT

By GILLIS PURCELL.
ALDERSHOT, Eng. (CP)—

The Duke of Connaught, 89-year-old former Governor-General of Canada and son of Queen Victoria, is giving evidence of his continuing interest in the Dominion and the Canadian Active Service Corps.

At his nearby home at Bagshot Park, Surrey, he was host Sunday at a luncheon for Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton and two senior brigadiers, Brigadier G. R. Pearkes of the second infantry brigade and Brigadier J. C. Stewart, commander of artillery.

(Brigadier Stewart left the position of officer commanding at Work Point Barracks last month to proceed overseas with the second contingent. Mrs. Stewart and their children are remaining in Victoria. Brigadier Pearkes was also former officer commanding at Work Point. His mother and sister, Miss Hilda Pearkes, live at "Fairways," North Saanich.)

Discussion centred on the care and entertainment of the Canadian troops and progress of their training. The Duke, who is in the best of health, expressed active interest, based not only on his knowledge of Canadians but on intimate association with their quarters in Aldershot. He was closely linked with Aldershot when it was laid out more than half a century ago.

Gen. McNaughton was able to say the utmost had been done by British authorities to make the Canadians comfortable and to assist in their training.

Princess Patricia, daughter of the Duke of Connaught, asked about the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry unit in the first Canadian division. She said, in fact, that she would like to see them on parade sometime soon, and this was regarded as an indication an early visit from her at Aldershot is in prospect.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful leakage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug stores—any drugist—a package of Hemoroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the sore, tender spots. Hemoroid is highly recommended, it is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Four Held for Saanich Break-in Four young men in the Saanich Police Court this morning faced a charge of breaking and entering the Brentwood Mercantile Store, following their speedy arrest after a five-mile chase in a truck in the early hours of Sunday morning.

They were Charles Brown, Frank Dunnigan, John Kirso and G. Patton. They were remanded until Thursday.

They were arrested at 4.30 yesterday morning at the point of guns held by Constables Cecil F. Pearce and Bert Pearson of the Saanich police as they walked along the old interurban right of way.

The robbery had taken place half an hour before when a safe containing papers and about $20 in cash and about $200 worth of cigarettes was removed in a truck and a car. Practically all of the loot was recovered, although police said a fifth man involved had apparently made good his escape.

The truck, found at the end of Echo Road, near Prospect Lake, was stolen from Fred Hubbard.

The chase started when Maurice Atkins, owner of the store, heard the truck driving away. Attired in his pyjamas and dressing gown he gave chase in his own car. Previously two neighbors had seen the truck being loaded and had taken after it as it drove from the store.

Easily picking up the trail on the frost-covered road, Mr. Atkins finally located the abandoned truck at the end of Echo Road. He saw his safe inside and left to telephone police from a house a quarter of a mile away. When he returned he found the bottom of the safe had been battered in, but the contents were intact.

By this time Chief J. Bull, Sgt. Eric Ewell and Constables Pearce, Pearson and Vic Smith had arrived.

The police put a cordon around the area in which they knew the men must be, and Pearce and Pearson were hidden in the bush on each side of the right of way when they heard the four men approaching.

The fifth man involved apparently got away earlier with the cigarettes, but these were found yesterday by Sgt. Ewell in the bush on Vernon Avenue where they had been thrown from a car.

Inquest Follows Finding of Body

A coroner's inquest was called for 10.30 tomorrow morning by Dr. E. C. Hart today following the week-end discovery of the body of a newly-born infant at the roadside of the west entrance to Beacon Hill Park.

In the meantime city police sought for clues which might lead to an explanation of the mystery.

It was the third occasion in a year on which a baby had been found under similar circumstances. The infant was discovered by a passing motorist who notified police. It was a female child and was wrapped in a Vancouver newspaper dated December 28.

A post-mortem examination by Dr. J. H. Moore indicated the child was born alive.

Nordheimer and Heintzman PIANOS

THIS sale marks a turning point in pianoforte history! Canada's two outstanding manufacturers of pianos, having stopped the manufacture of conventional style instruments (in favor of the small, modern types), leaves us no alternative but to effect immediate disposal of more than 50 of these beautiful instruments.

To every true lover of the piano on Vancouver Island it is an unparalleled opportunity to buy a brand-new piano at about one-half its former price! As these instruments are the product of Nordheimer and Heintzman & Co., and are universally recognized as the finest instruments produced in Canada, no detailed description of them is necessary.

We urge an early inspection of these pianos, as there are many styles and finishes... but only a limited number of each. Your present piano will be accepted in part payment and the balance can be arranged on a budget plan to suit your convenience.

FLYNN, DAVIS IN
CAPITOL PICTURE

"The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex," the new Warner Bros. technicolor production starring Bette Davis and Errol Flynn, has its first local showing today at the Capitol Theatre.

Bette Davis, of course, is cast as the self-willed, vain and domineering Queen Elizabeth, torn between her love of England and its people and her overwhelming love for the handsome and dashing young Earl of Essex. Flynn as Essex has precisely the type of role in which he has endeared himself to audiences the world over—that of a handsome, swashbuckling hero, as victorious in love as he is in war.

The supporting cast includes
Olivia de Havilland, Donald Crisp,
Vincent Price, Henry Stephenson and Alan Hale.

FILM AT RIO

Elsa Maxwell, the world-famous party-thrower, has never given a party that was half so much fun as her first movie
"Hotel For Women," Cosmopolitan production for 20th Century-

Fox which opens today at the Rio Theatre. There's a girl in every room and a man on every mind in this screen world of girls. In the cast are Ann Southern, Linda
Darnell, James Ellison, Jean
Rogers, Lynn Bari, June Gale,
Joyce Compton, Elsa herself,
John Halliday, Katharine Aldridge, Alan Dinehart and Sidney Blakmer.

PHILIPPINE STORY
ON PLAZA SCREEN

Fast-moving action, suspenseful drama and red-blooded romance are in store for moviegoers when they witness the showing of Samuel Goldwyn's "The Real Glory," which co-stars Gary
Cooper, Andrea Leeds and David
Niven, and is presented at the Plaza Theatre today as a United Artists release. Cooper plays the type of outdoor role which has made him one of the screen's topnotch stars, portraying a doctor who has joined the army and come to work in the Philippines to sharpen his experience.

Opposite Cooper, Miss Leeds and David Niven turn in capital performances, the brunette beauty as a visiting American, and Niven as one of Cooper's buddies.

Around the Docks— DEEP-SEA TROLLER IS LAUNCHED HERE

A stout new ship for the rugged west coast of Vancouver Island was launched over the week-end at the Kingston Street plant of Armstrong Brothers for Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Mawson of Chemainus.

She is a deep-sea troller, and Mrs. Mawson christened her New America. Many friends attended the launching ceremony and cheered when the traditional bottle was smashed over the prow as the vessel started down the ways into the waters of the Inner Harbor.

The new craft is 38 feet in length, with a 10-foot beam and a draught of 5 feet 6 inches. She is equipped with a 35-h.p. Vivian diesel, with necessary auxiliaries, and will do about eight knots. Built throughout of British Columbia fir, she has sleeping accommodation for four persons.

The Armstrong plant is now building a 26-foot pleasure cruiser for F. A. E. Manning, head of the Manning Lumber Company. She will be ready for launching in about a month or six weeks and will have a 25-h.p. Kermath gasoline engine.

TO MOVE LIGHTSHIP

Mariners are advised by Col. A. W. R. Wilby, local agent for the Department of Transport, that the Sand Heads Lightship, at the entrance to the Fraser River, will be moved to a new position at the end of this week. She will be in approximately 15 fathoms of water in latitude N. 49.06.18; longitude W. 123.18.28, or approximately 1,000 feet southeast of its present position.

The unwatched light on the north point of the entrance to Tahsis Narrows, west coast of Vancouver Island, is reported not burning, but will be attended as soon as possible.

SAILORS OVERBOARD

Two Japanese sailors were washed overboard from the steamship Hsini Maru, 700 miles west of San Francisco, according to a report picked up over the week-end at the Gonzales Wireless Station. The captain of the ship reported the men might be hanging to a grating which went overboard at the same time and asked ships in the vicinity to keep a look out, but to the present no further word has been received.

BIG SILK CARGO

Ms. Hie Maru, due at William Head tomorrow at midnight from Japan, is bringing 1,340 packages of raw silk for speedy transshipment overland to silk mills in the eastern United States. It will be discharged in Vancouver, with 2,800 tons of general Oriental freight. There are 37 passengers aboard the ship.

Booked to capacity, Ms. Hikawa Maru will pass off Victoria tomorrow afternoon on her way to Japan. She is leaving Seattle this afternoon and will sail from Vancouver tomorrow at noon.

VISITOR FROM KORE

Stanley H. Garrod, connected with the Canadian Pacific at Kobe, has arrived on furlough from Japan and joined Mrs. Garrod and their children, Suzanne and Alec, who have been here some weeks. Mr. Garrod is one of the best-known steamship men in the Orient and has been stationed in Hongkong, Shanghai, Kobe and Yokohama. Mrs. Garrod was formerly Miss Winnie Lee of Victoria, daughter of the late Arthur Lee, well-known pioneer resident.

TAI PING FLOATED

After being submerged off Ocean Falls for several weeks, the ill-starred Chinese junk Tai Ping was brought to the surface at the week-end and is being temporarily patched to permit her to make the voyage to Vancouver for permanent repairs. The Tai Ping crossed the Pacific, landed at Quatsino, then was blown ashore on Princess Royal Island and later went to the bottom in Dean Channel, off Ocean Falls. Capt. Anderson still hopes to take her down the coast, through the Panama Canal and to New York.

WIFE FOLLOWS SHIP

SEATTLE—Capt. A. Schaafsma, master of the Dutch freighter Tambar like to see his wife as often as possible. She likes to see him, too, and is fond of travel. Three weeks ago the ship was in San Diego and Mrs. Schaafsma went there from New York home. Then she came up the coast to Vancouver and visited her husband again. When the ship went to Puget Sound ports she flew there. Now the Tambar is en route to Portland and San Francisco and Mrs. Schaafsma will be on the docks in both ports when the vessel arrives. When the ship sails from San Francisco for South Africa, Mrs. Schaafsma will wave farewell to her husband and then return to New York.

W. M. NEAL

HOLIDAYS HERE—“Just enjoying your lovely summer weather,” said W. M. Neal, vice-president of Canadian Pacific western lines who is in Victoria today from Winnipeg with Mrs. Neal and his secretary. They are at the Empress Hotel. Mr. Neal, who frequently comes to Victoria on vacations, will spend several days here—mostly on the golf courses, which are now frozen in Winnipeg.

U.S. Liner Released By British Ships

LONDON (AP)—The United States liner Manhattan sailed today toward Genoa after being released yesterday from overnight detention by the British contraband control at Gibraltar.

The United States Lines, Manhattan's owners, were said to have agreed that if the British found any contraband in the vessel's manifest, it would be placed at British disposal in Genoa. The manifest was left for British examination at Gibraltar.

Naval Casualties Are Published

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty today issued a list of naval casualties made up of the names of 116 officers and men known dead and of 11 assumed dead.

The list represents all incidental casualties up to December 14. The Admiralty explained the casualties arose from various hazards of service in war and are not related to any particular ship or action.

(Separate casualty lists were issued in connection with the sinking of the aircraft carrier Courageous and the battleship Royal Oak. Some 1,600 lives were lost when those two ships were torpedoed.)

Among the prisoners of war listed as Lieut. G. B. K. Griffiths, a naval aviator whose family had mourned him as dead until he heard at Christmas that he had been captured by the U-boat he had tried to destroy.

It was understood no Canadians were included in the casualty list.

German Ship Sinks After Collision

OSLO (CP-Havas)—The 5,062-ton German steamship Frankenkwal sank Saturday after a collision near Steinsund in the Sognefjord, on the west coast of Norway, it was learned today.

The Frankenkwal's crew of 48 and two Norwegian pilots aboard were rescued by a Norwegian destroyer and were taken to Bergen.

The Frankenkwal, built in 1922, was operated out of Hamburg by the Hamburg-America line.

E. M. M. HILL

GIVEN PROMOTION—Last week Mr. Hill was appointed chief engineer of the Canadian National western region, with headquarters in Winnipeg. He commenced his railway career in 1903 and prior to accepting his new position was engineer of construction and right of way.

Jew Captain Saved Columbus Crew

WASHINGTON—The commander of the U.S.S. Tusaloosa, which rescued 577 men from death when the Nazi luxury liner Columbus was scuttled, is a Jew. His name is Harry A. Badt. He was born in Tyler, Texas, in 1884. The Washington Times Herald, in a “note to Hitler” has asked “would any of your men on the Columbus have rescued Captain Badt had they found him where he found them?”

British Ship Battled With Submarine

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Passengers of the 14,172-ton British liner Highland Patriot today told of a two-hour battle with a German submarine shortly after the vessel had left Las Palmas Islands on its journey here.

They said the submarine fired two torpedoes, one of which passed perilously close to the bow and the other just as close to the stern.

When the submarine appeared the liner's crew manned her guns—one four-inch gun mounted aft and one anti-aircraft gun. The crew fired on the submarine, which then submerged and disappeared.

Passengers said one of their number was fatally injured in the excitement.

The Highland Patriot is a Royal Mail Line vessel running regularly between Liverpool and Buenos Aires.

WIN TOP PRIZES

NEW YORK—Quite remarkable when difference in population is considered, is an announcement today by American Crossword Magazine that Canadian citizens won first and second prizes, and three-fourths of the total amount offered in a contest just closed by that publication.

Dr. P. M. Wilson, 625 East 12th Avenue, Vancouver, B.C., wins first prize of $50, and Edward J. Bertrand, 58 Lasgar Street, Sudbury, Ont., second prize of $25.

The remaining 16 prizes were won by United States citizens.

French Parliament To Meet Tomorrow

PARIS (CP)—The French parliament was summoned today to meet tomorrow in its first ordinary session of the war for a general debate on Premier Daladier's conduct of the conflict. M. Daladier called the cabinet for a session tomorrow morning.

Parliament held two extraordinary sessions in 1939 to adopt special war measures, and the 1940 budget, but discussion of general policies awaited the first ordinary session. Mobilized deputies were granted leave to attend.

Debate will start Thursday, with the Socialist group proposing a secret sitting for discussion of military affairs.

Germany Bars Italian Planes Bound for Finland

BERLIN (AP)—Authorized Nazi sources today said reports that Germany had refused to permit Italian planes destined for Finland to pass through the Reich were true.

These sources said no nation under international law was obliged to accept war material as transit goods. Each such case must be decided on its merits, they held.

Russia, they asserted, would have objected violently if the planes had been allowed to pass, and Germany deemed it expedient to refuse such transit as a means of preventing extension of the war area.

PASTOR'S WIFE IS CALLED TO REST

Yesterday afternoon there passed away at her home, 3435 Cook Street, Alberta Murray Anderson, wife of the Rev. F. W. Anderson.

Mrs. Anderson was born in Kincardine, Ontario, in 1878. She was a graduate of the Toronto Conservatory of Music in both vocal and instrumental departments, and before her marriage did professional work in St. Catharines, Ontario. Together with her husband, Mrs. Anderson was actively associated in the work of the United Church in various parts of Canada.

Since coming to British Columbia in 1928 she resided in Nanaimo, Mission City and Victoria, and in every locality exerted a most inspiring influence upon all whose privilege it was to know her.

Mrs. Anderson is survived by her husband and their son, Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson in Victoria, and by a brother and two sisters, Rev. Dr. J. L. Murray and the Misses Virna and Evelyn Murray, all of Toronto.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 at McCall Bros' Funeral Home, conducted by the Rev. Hugh G. McLeod of First United Church. Cremation will be at Royal Oak.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—A moderate buying rally during the last half of today's session on Winnipeg Grain Exchange erased early losses of about a cent and left wheat futures prices practically unchanged. Final quotations were 1/4 to 1/2 cent higher, May at 86 1/2, July 87 1/2 and October 89.

Reports of snow over most of the United States winter wheat belt brought out moderate liquidation which weakened values here and at Chicago in the initial stages.

Export sales of Canadian wheat held to the light side and were not expected to exceed 200,000 bushels.

In cash wheat market exporters were credited with picking up a little No. 1 northern wheat while mills bought some of the lower grades. Coarse grain trading was quiet.

A Short History of Russia

I—FINNS GAVE RUSSIA HER NAME

Today we start the story of the strange country called Russia. Some persons speak of it as "Soviet Russia" or "The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics," but those are names of the past 21 years, and were not known during most of Russia's long history. Russia fills up more than half of Europe and about one-third of Asia. It is the largest country in the world, in number of square miles. The population, however, is hardly half as great as China's.

Ivan the Terrible

Russia has a population of about 180,000,000, which is greater than that of the United States. Russia contains more square miles than there are in the United States and Canada combined. There are more kinds of people in Russia than in any other country. Just to name a few of the kinds of people, the country contains Tartars, Finns, Poles, Yurmaks, and Karelians. Many different languages are spoken in Russia.

Mos Russians belong to the branch of the white race known as "Slavs." The Serbs, the Bulgarians, the Czechs and the Slovaks are also classed as Slavs. The story of the Russian name is an odd one. Eleven hundred years ago, bands of Norsemen sailed and rowed up certain rivers south and east of the Baltic Sea. A Norse leader named Rurik obtained power over tribes of Slavs. The Finns called the Norsemen "Rous," and that name later was given to people under the rule of Rurik. They came to be known as "Rousians" or "Russians."

The Russian nation spread from northern Europe southward to the Black Sea and the Caspian Sea. Many Russians carried on business with the city of Constantinople, and met with Christian priests.

By the year 1000, the Christian religion had gained many members in Russia. It was the Greek form of the Christian faith, and differed in a few ways from the Christian religion of western Europe. Mongol armies from Asia swept over Russia two centuries after the Christian faith took hold there. Genghis Khan became the overlord of Russia, but he let Russian nobles rule this part of his empire. The leading noble was the Grand Duke of Moscow.

In the time of Christopher Columbus, a new grand duke of Moscow came to power. He broke away from Mongol rule, and made Russia a free country. That is, it became free from outside control. The people had little personal freedom.

A grand duke named Ivan later took for himself the name of "czar." This was a form of "Caesar," an old Roman title which had grown up, after the death of Julius Caesar. It meant about the same thing as "emperor." Czar Ivan was guilty of deeds of cruelty, and for this reason came to be called "Ivan the Terrible."

HOROSCOPE

Tuesday, January 9
Mingled good and evil aspects are active today. It is an unfavorable rule for love affairs or for business in which men and women are associated. Better understanding of the difficulties of persons in high positions is indicated.

Children should be watched and protected with special caution through this winter. Accidents will be unusually numerous. Danger of crimes against the young is emphasized by those who read warnings in the stars. Girls should not be permitted to enjoy too much liberty. Undesirable wooers will be numerous through the winter.

Lawyers, physicians and writers have the forecast of unusual demands upon their services. Prosperity is indicated for the learned professions. Ministers of the gospel will benefit through a revival of religious interest. Churches will be centres of philanthropic effort as the winter advances and severe weather increases need of aid for the unfortunate.

Women will prove of great service to a representative of conservative statesmanship, but success appears to be delayed until a later time.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—My age is 51. I am a bachelor and wherever I go I bump into girls or trip over their pretty feet. I stand looking at something and when I turn around ten chances to see if some fascinating dame ain't right up against me. The other day I had to wait a bit in an office. There was a vacant chair right by mine and sure as death if a humdinger didn't come and squat down in it and smile at me. Can you help me out in some way? For very soon one of these hooks will be digging me up and then what will I do?

Answer: I can only suggest that you wear a gas mask. That should scare 'em off, but with your fatal fascinations you certainly are in danger, so be careful and don't smile back.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have been married three months and find that marriage isn't what I thought it would be. I thought Bill would be calling me several times a day on the phone to see if I was still alive and tell me how much he loved me, and that he would always be bringing me home little surprises, like candy or flowers, but he has never done anything like that. I thought he would have been more romantic. He is kind and gentle as a lamb, but why have these three months seemed like three years instead of just a few days? Why?

Answer: Because marriage isn't like your imaginings. It is real life instead of a dream. It is two people settling down to the business of getting along together and working together and making each other happy. Forget your childish fancies and be glad you have a husband who works to keep you comfortable and safe instead of one who spends his time calling you up on the telephone.

DOROTHY DIX.

No Recruiting
Here So Far

VANCOUVER (CP)—All vacancies were filled 10 minutes after recruiting opened today for 150 reinforcements for the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, only Vancouver unit to take on more men under a new recruiting order from Ottawa.

Civilians applying for enlistment were interviewed and given a medical examination, then told to go home and wait for a call. It will be several days before it is known how many enlisted men from other units will be transferred to the Seaforth. As these men have preference, only enough civilians will be called up to provide the balance of the number required.

While Ottawa announcements said recruiting for replacements in the Canadian Active Service Force opened today, military headquarters for British Columbia said the only unit in the province accepting new men today was the Westminster Regiment in New Westminster.

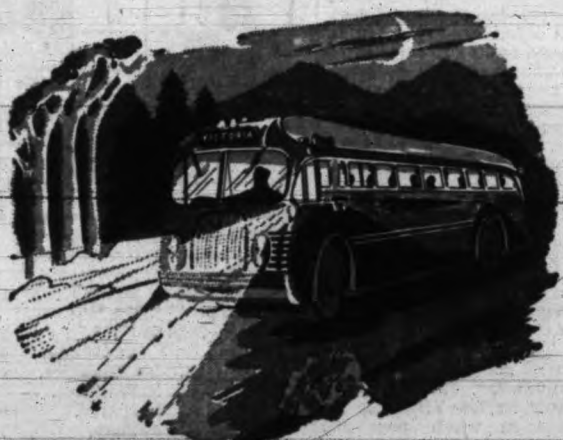

Brigadier C. V. Stockwell said that other units have yet received orders to begin enlistments. They may come through.

Sees Canada as Postwar Leader

A prominent position for Canada in a postwar world was foreseen by Hugh Sholto Watt, Victoria-born journalist on the Daily Telegraph, in an address to the Men's Canadian Club in the Empress Hotel today.

After giving a description of the conditions and events behind the Baltic conflict, Mr. Watt spoke of the growing consideration given by Allied leaders to a proposed federation in Europe following present hostilities.

Any European federation would require the approval of the democracies in other parts of the world. And Canada, he said, could play a highly important part in the establishment of such a set-up.

Mr. Watt spoke of the virile individualism of the Baltic countries, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, remarking they were, in a sense, new countries in as much as they had been developed along nationalistic lines only after shedding the yoke of foreign domination following the reshuffle which attended the end of the first Great War.

While those countries had been forced into mutual assistance pacts with Russia, he believed they could not be coerced into fighting with the Red forces against Finland.

FINLAND'S PROBLEM

The speaker referred in some details to the climatic and geographic conditions in Finland, noting they, with the strength and determination of the defending force, had played a major part in checking the invasion of the Red forces. Although the Russian attacks had been largely thrown back, "we delude ourselves if we discount too greatly Russia's strength," he said, contradicting the opinion that the Soviet forces were extremely weak.

Finland, he felt, would eventually fall to the numerical strength of the Russian war machine unless the attacked country received very material help from outside sources.

Mr. Watt scouted the propaganda in-line before daylight today as more than 1,000 men braved cold weather to enlist in the Canadian army.

Dozens of the recruits at the two depots, the 48th Highlanders and the district depot, came from militia units and carried letters of introduction from their commanding officers. Others were without military experience and without jobs.

Specialists, cooks, clerks and typists, fitters, expert machinists and mechanics were picked from the lines by officers, who explained that such men are needed at once.

The recruiting is limited and is to provide reserves for the first and second contingents of the Canadian Active Service Force which have reached Great Britain.

ganda advanced by Russia to the effect that the Red army was one of liberation entering Finland to relieve the oppressed proletariat. He had not, he said, seen any evidence of the "oppressed proletariat" when he had visited Finland, which, he said, was economically sound in comparison with Russia.

"Finland," Mr. Watt stated, "is a prosperous country which has been able to do more for its people than has Russia."

Sweden, while prevented from entering active alliance with Finland on the war front owing to the menace of Germany across the Baltic, was, nevertheless, giving material and financial aid.

"If Finland were to be subdued by Russia, Finland would become a jumping off place for other activities," he declared as he emphasized the need for Allied aid for that country.

Mr. Watt referred to the "unsavory marriage of convenience between Russia and Germany," but thought it would lead to no closer alliance between the two countries.

He was inclined, too, to discount a possible realignment of powers which would bring Germany in with the Allies against Russia. Such a swing would require too great a change in heart on the part of Germany, he thought.

Hunters See and Shoot at Caddy

"I've read stories about people seeing it. I've talked with people who said they saw it. But I always said... phooey!"

Cecil Burgess, 190 Olive Street, remarked this morning and said that he and a hunting companion, Norm Ingram, 1330 Grant Street, now have joined the group of firm believers there is such a creature as the sea-serpent Caddorosauros.

While they were duck-hunting on an island off Rocky Point yesterday morning they claim to have had a close-up of Caddy.

If only I had had a camera along I could have got a wonderful picture," Burgess told a reporter. "He was only 40 or 45 yards away from us at one time," he added.

They could see one distinct hump, but could also see the reflection of the submerged part of Caddy's body through the water. The creature's head resembled a cross between a camel's head and a walrus' head.

Burgess said it had a hairy coat that was light brown in color, something like the color of an alreadd dog. It had whiskers too.

The head was quite high out of the water, showing a long neck when the hunters got their best view of it. After the neck a portion of the body was submerged and then came the hump. The body was from two to two and a half feet thick. The creature kept diving and coming up again, giving the hunters a good opportunity to see it.

Ingram was looking out over the water about 11 in the morning to see if any flights of ducks were coming their way when he saw what looked like two seals fighting their way toward the island against the tide. He called Burgess' attention to them and they loaded their guns with buckshot and waited to enjoy a little sport with the sea "animals."

The "animals" kept diving and coming up after lengthy underwater sprints, and when "they" came up quite close to the island for a breather Burgess got a better look and decided they were not seals, but a big walrus.

The next time the sea animal reared its head above the water it was only 40 yards away and the stunned hunters stood staring at the most unusual creature they had ever seen. It was a hundred yards away before the hunters calmed themselves and Burgess let go a load of buckshot. The animal submerged after the shot was fired and they did not catch sight of it again.

NEW VETERANS'
BRANCH FORMED

J. F. E. Carman was elected president of the Victoria Branch of the 49th Battalion, Edmonton Regiment, on Saturday night when the local branch was formed at a dinner meeting held in Speedie's Cafe Saturday, the 25th anniversary of the formation of the battalion.

Col. R. H. Palmer was elected honorary president; C. W. A. Drader, vice-president; Albert Stroud, secretary-treasurer; F. R. Hasse, corresponding secretary, and C. R. D. Ferris, J. Watts and A. G. Holloway, members of the executive.

Rev. F. L. Stephenson, chaplain of the battalion overseas, was returned to his post as padre of the branch.

Toasts were proposed to the King and the Royal Family, to fallen comrades and the ladies.

It was decided to hold a reunion April 9, the anniversary of Vimy Ridge, and that other meetings should be arranged during the year.

The "Old 49th" was formed under Major Gen. (then Lieut. Col.) W. A. Griesbach, and went overseas as a "flying battalion" in 1915, before the formation of the 7th Brigade of the Third Division, to which it was then attached, with the Princess Pats, the 42nd Montreal Highlanders and the Royal Canadian Regiment.

Knowles Asks $718
For Riot Damages

Complete damages for the incident are assessed by Mr. Knowles at $718.

The truck was put out of commission by Chinese and white sympathizers as it was transporting the scrap to a wharf for shipment.

Attached to the letter from Mr. Henderson is an accounting of moneys lost by Mr. Knowles through loss of use of the truck, together with a statement of repair costs.

A reply to the claim is sought by Mr. Henderson at the city's earliest convenience.
